WASHINGTON
MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON
and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Saturday, May 18. (AP)—Senate foes of the Blue Eagle have won their fight "to trifle with that bird."

Despite the President's opposition and Donald Richberg's frantic efforts, the anti-NRAers are having their way in their demand that the powers of the recovery agency be curbed drastically and its lease of life extended only to April 1, 1936.

Senator Bennett Clark's resolution—which does both these things—will be passed by the senate and accepted by the house.

The reason for this is that the administration can't help itself.

When it attempted to block the senate group by lining up house leaders against the Clark resolution, the senate slapped down an ultimatum: "Either accept our proposition or there will be no NRA legislation."

RICHBERG then attempted to trade.

He offered to accept the Clark-Borah ban on intra-state codes and price-fixing in return for a two year extension.

But the senate oppositionists refused to bargain.

With only a month remaining before the NRA act expires they hold the whip hand. It would be relatively an easy matter to filibuster the recovery agency into oblivion.

Curtly they informed administration floor leaders that with them it was not a question of whether to extend the NRA eight months or two years, but whether the Blue Eagle should not be wiped out at once.

Finally Senator Borah, openly distrustful of Richberg, demanded that the house act first on the Clark resolution, thus assuring the senate of the last word.

EGOTIST

LUNCHING with Senator Nye in the senate dining room, Huey Long suddenly turned to the chairman of the munitions investigating committee and inquired:

"Jerry, do you know what the newspapers would say if someone walked into this room right now and shot you up?"

"No, I don't."

"Well," said the Kingfish, "the headlines would read something like this—'Assassin's Bullet Misses Huey Long.'"

MILITARY-MINDED

A LOT of people have been wondering why the army and navy seem to have their way with Roosevelt more than with any other president in recent years.

One explanation is obvious, another not so obvious but fairly simple.

The first revolves around the fact that Roosevelt, as former secretary of the navy, is primarily a big navy man.

The second is that Roosevelt probably comes into closer contact with his naval and military aides than any other president in the history of the country.

With other presidents, the aides stood two paces to the rear. But with Roosevelt, one or the other of them stands alongside so that he can grasp his arm.

Both aides are able, intelligent officers. They were carefully selected for their ability to get and keep the ear of the President.

CATTLE DIPLOMACY

DIPLOMATIC relations being what they are, it is not a simple matter for one cattle rancher to chin over the rail fence with another cattle rancher in order to learn the latest tricks of the trade.

Argentina, closely rivaling Russia in cattle numbers, is deeply interested in Russia's recent experiments in bovine eugenics. The Russians have hit upon a scheme for artificial breeding whereby the strain of a single bull may be propagated through the agency of as many as two thousand cows.

The Argentinians have heard of it and want to know more. But they have struck a diplomatic snag. The Argentine republic has not recognized the Union of Soviet Socialist republics, thus can have no relations with them.

Wild Disorder Rocks EPIC Convention in L. A.

SINCLAIR IS TARGET OF HECKLERS

Communists Trying To Gain Control, Upton Charges At Meet

LOS ANGELES, Saturday, May 18. (AP)—An insurgent revolt created a riotous, tumultuous scene at the End-Poverty league convention here today with the insurgents crying, "throw him out."

Their remarks were directed at Upton Sinclair, former socialist, one time democrat, nominee for governor of California and founder of the Epic movement.

As the tumult was created by the insurgents, Sinclair, a slender, gray-haired man, shouted charges that communists were seeking to seize control of the movement.

Sheridan Downey, permanent chairman of the convention, broke his gavel and threatened to throw the mallet at one insurgent.

Doors Locked
Doors of the convention room were later locked and guarded and only accredited delegates were admitted.

"Communists are here," Sinclair shouted when the situation first got out of hand. "They are here for the same purpose that they are at every meeting of Epic, democrats or labor organizations—to cause dissension and disruption."

Several delegates leaped up shouting "you're wrong." Then (Please turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

WHEEL CHAIR FUND GROWS

An aged lady walked into The Journal building, 117 East Fifth street, and handed the auditor a $5 bill. "This is for that crippled boy, Vernon Carpenter," she said, and left without revealing her name.

This is one of the latest contributions The Journal has welcomed in building a $250 fund to provide Santa Ana's paralyzed youth with a Custer gasoline-motored wheel-chair to replace a dilapidated home-made machine which the 24-year-old cripple has driven for the past seven years.

Chair Hardly Runs

Vernon's old chair, which hardly runs at the present time, goes only 20 miles on a gallon of gasoline, but the new Custer motor would give him 75 miles.

During the past few months Vern has operated his crude machine without brakes, and on numerous occasions has barely missed being struck by automobiles. When he approaches an intersection, he must turn and go with the horizontal traffic until the way is clear for him to cross the street.

WIFE DIES; HUSBAND IN JAIL

Mrs. F. D. Coltrin, Fullerton, Passes After Husband's Conviction

While her husband was in the county jail following his conviction on a second degree murder charge, Mrs. Clarissa May Coltrin, long prominent in Fullerton club life, passed away last night after a long illness at her home, 421 West Brookdale avenue, Fullerton.

Presiding Judge James L. Allen today issued an order to allow Dr. F. D. Coltrin, 77, to be released from jail for a few hours this afternoon to make arrangements for the funeral of his wife. Dr. Coltrin, white-haired veteran physician, passed through the jail door with a sheriff's escort on his mission.

Will Attend Rites
Dr. Coltrin will leave the jail again Monday to attend the services for his wife, which will be held at 2 p. m. in the Fullerton Christian church. The Rev. L. I. Chamlee, pastor, will officiate. McAulay and Suters funeral home will be in charge of the services, and interment will be in Loma Vista cemetery.

Mrs. Coltrin was an active member of the Fullerton Christian church, the Eastern Star, and the White Shrine. She was prominently identified with the activities of the federated women's clubs of Orange county. She had been ill for some time.

Leaves Sister

Besides her husband, Mrs. Coltrin leaves a sister, Mrs. Charles Harbord of Buffalo, N. Y.

When Dr. Coltrin returns to his cell following the funeral, he will await the outcome of his appeal from an order denying him a new trial. He was convicted about a month ago on the second degree murder charge and a charge of performing an illegal operation.

The charges were based on the death of Charlotte Valentine, 16, of this city last February 14, following an operation assertedly performed by Dr. Coltrin.

PENROSE IN L. A.

LOS ANGELES, May 17. (AP)—Spencer Penrose, Colorado copper magnate and brother of the late Boise Penrose, Pennsylvania political leader, was a visitor here today. En route from Honolulu, Penrose said his health, after a recent illness, was "as good as ever."

FAMED FLIER IS KILLED

DETROIT, Saturday, May 18. (AP)—Stanley Hauser, Polish-American transatlantic flier, was killed today when the red monoplane in which he planned within a few days to attempt a non-stop flight from the United States to Poland crashed and burned on a warehouse here. The identification was made by the coroner's office an hour after the crash while the body still was in the wreckage.

Stunting Over Church

Hauser came here from Pittsburgh Sunday night to complete preparations for the flight. He was stunting over a church where memorial services were being conducted for Marshal Josef Pilsudski of Poland when his big plane, recently christened the "Marshal" (Please turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

Citizens Claim Church Running Institution, Marx Theory Taught

Oceanview children will return to school Monday but the fight that has shattered the peace of the community will continue.

This decision was reached today after a heated conference of parents from the district in the office of County Superintendent of Schools Ray Adkinson, during which charges that a church is attempting to run the school, and that a former pastor preached the principles of Carl Marx from the pulpit and in the community.

Local politics, business affairs and personal difficulties also reared their heads as contributing factors to the now which has shattered the peace of the community.

Parents who attended the conference did so in an effort to persuade Adkinson to make an investigation of the situation. Adkinson refused to do this, declaring that he is prohibited by law from conducting such an investigation.

He told the delegation that so far as he was concerned the meeting was for the purpose of harmonizing all factions and that he would make no statements and would listen only to proven facts. Efforts to have him conduct a hearing at which children would testify failed when he flatly refused.

Georgia Drinkers To Be Satisfied-Even If Drys Triumph

ATLANTA, Saturday, May 18. (AP)—Georgia drinkers today found their desires almost fulfilled—legally or otherwise—while tabulators of Wednesday's referendum pressed for official totals.

Barring the unforeseen, they are assured legal wine and beer and as for hard liquor in its possible defeat.

The government already had termed Georgia one of the nation's topnotch producers of native corn liquor.

Unofficial tabulators after two days of hard work, report the dyes leading by 227 votes.

The figures showed:

For repeal, 81,893, against 82,120.

For beer, 85,402, against 76,514, a majority of 8,888.

For wine, 83,847, against 75,245, a majority for legalization of 8,602.

LARGEST AIR LINER HIT, EXPLODES

'Maxim Gorky' Struck Down Today With 36 Passengers Aboard

MOSCOW, Saturday, May 18. (AP)—An explosion blew the Maxim Gorky, world's largest airliner, into pieces near Moscow today and killed its crew and 36 passengers. Pieces of the victims were strewn over a village.

An official account of the disaster said:

"At 12:45 p. m. local time a disaster befell the airplane Maxim Gorky at the Moscow central airfield. The airplane was on a flight with M. Juroff, chief pilot; M. Mikheev, assistant pilot, and 36 shock workers employed by the Central Aerodynamic Institute. On this flight the Maxim Gorky was accompanied by an instructional machine belonging to the institute and piloted by M. Blagutin."

"Despite stringent orders," the announcement continued, "Pilot Blagutin started performing acrobatics in close proximity with the Maxim Gorky at 2350 feet. Plane Hits Machine

"Blagutin was just finishing a loop when his plane struck a wing of the big machine. The giant was badly damaged and crashed. Fragments shattered from the wing and fell over a wide area."

"Eleven persons constituting the crew and 36 passengers—shock workers engineers, technicians, members of the Working Men's Institute, including several members of their families, were killed in the disaster. The flier Blagutin also was killed."

"The funeral of the dead will be held Monday at the expense of the state. The government has generously decided to compensate the families of the victims."

Prosperous Cities Must Repay, Others Open For 'Donations'

WASHINGTON, Saturday, May 18. (AP)—A vision of cities through-out the land hastening to take a sort of figurative "pauper's oath" so they could claim outright donations from the $4,000,000,000 work relief fund caused concern in some government quarters today.

They expressed worry lest individuals, as well as cities, rush to declare themselves poor. Officials were seeking to work out methods of preventing such a stampede.

The Roosevelt administration has laid down the policy that fairly prosperous cities must repay a substantial share of the money spent on projects, while cities that have no borrowing power left are to receive 100 per cent grants; that is, gifts.

Protest Seen

An official, who would not permit use of his name for publication, said that "obviously one city will protest having to pay back some of the money, while another doesn't."

A somewhat similar policy has been laid down for individuals.

In general, it has been said, unemployed persons not on relief rolls will not be given direct work on the government financed projects. Officials, however, have expressed hope they will be absorbed into jobs with concerns supplying materials and equipment.

MORE ABOUT SINCLAIR

the cry of "throw him out" went up.

Sinclair flushed angrily and declared: "I know I'm right."

"I'm just as much against the criminal syndicalism act and for the release of Tom Mooney as anyone is, but you communists are trying to destroy democracy," Sinclair went on. "We Epics know democracy hasn't worked but we believe we might save it and we will have absolutely nothing to do with any organization striving to bring about the downfall of democracy."

Sinclair Cheered

Sinclair was cheered and order finally was restored.

The storm started just after Downey called for a motion to accept the report of the credentials committee. An unidentified delegate demanded to know if all the delegates accredited by the committee had presented credentials signed by the president and two other officers of their respective Epic clubs.

At this point, Lou Rose, a delegate, jumped to his feet and shouted that at least 100 delegates seated in the convention did not represent any organization but were passed on credentials signed by "some individual at headquarters."

"If there's any delegates here seated on phony credentials I want to know it," shouted John Gibbs, another delegate.

Then, turning toward the chair, Gibbs charged: You're packing this convention. I protest on the grounds this is not democracy. You're writing names on slips of paper and sending people in here to vote."

Cries Go Up

Cries of "railroad, railroad" went up from several delegates and more than half the audience was on its feet. Tremendous roars went up from Downey supporters and from those who claimed the convention was being controlled by the chairman.

Sinclair then strode from the wings. He was applauded.

"Friends my understanding is that this is an Epic convention of duly elected delegates of Epic clubs," he said. "No one but the delegates should be allowed on the convention floor."

The crowd cheered.

"But this is like so many other Epic meetings that I have seen," he continued. "Communist leaflets have been showered from the gallery. They were quickly torn up by loyal Epics. The communists try to win away the members of other groups by artifice and smooth talking."

It was then that the hubbub started anew and there were cries of "throw him out."

Thirty-six mothers of Kneiting, Central Bavaria, who have produced a total of 301 children, one having 16 offspring, have just been given the new Nazi "honor card" for women who present the State with five or more children.

VET AUXILIARY INITIATES

Initiation for Mrs. Ruth O'Malia was held at the meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Ernest L. Kellogg auxiliary, last night in the K. of P. hall.

Plans for the sale of buddy poppies May 25 were announced by Mrs. Edna Camm. Auxiliary members are to get their flowers from a booth, which the post expects to have stationed at Fourth and Main streets, and will sell throughout the day.

In company with the Kellogg post, the auxiliary will attend services at the First Christian church May 26. An invitation from the Elks to celebrate Flag day with them June 11, was accepted by both groups.

Visitors at the meeting were Mrs. Eva Dusenbury of Los Angeles, Mrs. Frank Hill, Mrs. Glen Reck, and Mrs. Charles Groves. Committee chairman announced for June and July were Miss Minnie Besser, Mrs. Phoebe Hyatt, Mrs. Pearl Hartman and Mrs. Ellene Miles.

MORE ABOUT BONUS

announced the bonus forces would call for an immediate vote in the house when the president concluded his veto message. If the veto is overridden, it will then go to the senate, where Thomas said they would be ready for a vote, also without debate, provided all their supporters were on hand.

House leaders decided against Monday for a joint session of the senate and house to receive the veto message on the ground there was insufficient time to make preparations for receiving the chief executive.

A memorial service for members who have died the past year is to be held Tuesday. Leaders said Wednesday was the probable date for the joint session.

Views on Currency

Some administration leaders expressed the belief that President Roosevelt would set forth his views on currency inflation when he shatters precedent by reading his veto.

One objection raised against the $2,200,000,000 new currency bill in administration quarters has been that the value of currency inflation is questionable. Just what language the president will choose to deal with the new money aspect of the bonus issue was a question of much interest in the capital.

The president's announcement late yesterday that he would go to the house of representatives chamber in person to read his message and his declaration that "I hope with all my heart the veto will be sustained" seemed to create gloom among the friends of the Patman measure. Some acknowledged privately that they had insufficient votes to override a veto.

"I am very glad that the president will appear and present his message in person," said Speaker Byrnes. "I cannot help but believe in view of the success that has attended his presentations over the radio and to congress, it will have a beneficial effect on the position he takes on this question."

200 ATTEND DANCE IN LEGION HALL

About 200 young people attended the DeMolay-Job's Daughters dance last night in the Legion hall. The dance was one of a series of Friday night dances sponsored by the two organizations. Chaperons for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Yerington, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Lyman, Mrs. C. M. McFarlane, and Mrs. G. A. Warren. The senior prom was formally announced last night. This is a dance given by Order of DeMolay honoring the graduating seniors. Frank Niemann's popular Laguna Beach ballroom orchestra will play for the affair.

and by Mrs. Frost C. Buchtel on "My Hobby Horse."

Selections were given by the women's chorus under the direction of Dudley Page Harper, a program by the evening school orchestra under Leland Auer, and numbers by C. E. Hurd on his mechanical banjo which was built in the metal shop of the evening high school.

Each class had contributed some table decoration representative of its study during the past year. Mrs. Helen Walden and Mrs. Ellen Smith were in charge of table while Mrs. Marshall Harolds and Mrs. Ruth Newman had made the place cards assisted by members of the art department of the evening school.

Evening schools will continue in session until May 29.

MORE ABOUT DRILLING

ing recent weeks. Previous proposals have been of two kinds, one to allow drilling in the ocean, and another to allow drilling from the land. The latter proposal would result in many of the wells being drilled on Standard Oil property, which lies along the buffs adjacent to the state oil pool.

View of Some

Some legislators have been reported to be taking the position that the drilling privilege should be opened to competitive bidding. In this connection it was reported last week that a program was being considered whereby drilling would be allowed both from the ocean and from the land.

Royalties for the state, Orange county and the city of Huntington Beach are involved in the project. The ocean drilling proposal would provide royalties for all three, while the proposal for drilling only from the land originally was made with the county left out of the royalty picture.

Lawrence of Arabia Still Unconscious as Wild Rumors Denied

BULLETIN

WOOL, Eng., Saturday, May 18. (AP)—The condition of Colonel T. E. Lawrence, injured five days ago in a motorcycle accident, took a sudden turn for the worse tonight and was described in an official bulletin as being "very grave."

WOOL, Dorsetshire, Eng., Saturday, May 18. (AP)—Wild rumors flitted about Col. T. E. Lawrence today as the famed World War figure lay for the fifth day unconscious from a motorcycle accident.

The reports were more fantastic than many of the legends linked to Lawrence's Arabian adventures. All were denied.

One was that Britain would be in peril if Lawrence died because his brain holds the country's war plans.

Another was that the man in the hospital is not Lawrence because the colonel is on a secret mission in the Far East.

Still another was that foreign agents caused mysterious fires near the lonely Dorsetshire cottage where Lawrence lived in an effort to obtain or destroy invaluable documents.

County Ranchers At Irvine Picnic Today

Hundreds of Orange county ranchers, with their families, were to gather this afternoon at Irvine park for the eighteenth annual picnic of the Orange County Farm bureau.

One of the outstanding features was to be a "wife calling contest." Last year the wives competed in calling their husbands.

The outstanding part of the program was to be an address by Dr. Harry Wellman, specialty crop administrator for the A.A.A. His topic was announced as "The Economics of Surplus Control of Agricultural Products."

The chairman of the meeting was Ray Stauffer, local branch manager, and the program was presented by Messrs. H. L. Pickett and F. T. Ross, of the National Lead company.

The program included an illustrated talk on the better housing program, a talk, "He Who Laughs Last," newspaper and other advertising features to help painters and paint dealers get their share of returning prosperity.

MORE ABOUT SCHOOL ROW

clared that he would not drag children into the affair and that open court is the only place such a hearing may be conducted.

Cooperation Held Lacking

Adkinson also informed the delegation that Gebauer had not cooperated with him and had embarrassed his office "in the worst way" through a statement released for publication. In dismissing Gebauer the school board said the action was taken because of his failure to cooperate with other teachers in the school. Adkinson also told them that it was evident community issues were being brought into the fight and for that reason he believed the issue should be settled by the community.

At the close of the conference the Oceanview delegation agreed to call a meeting of a few representatives of each faction at which time Adkinson would meet with them and attempt to settle all difficulties.

No Compromise

That there will be no compromise on the part of parents who are supporting Gebauer was indicated when R. A. Ross, a member of the delegation flatly refused to consider any retraction of charges hurled at school board members. Other members of the delegation agreed that if the school board would retract its charge of non-cooperation and reinstate Gebauer they would retract charges against the board. It was said that Gebauer would not consider returning to the school next year but the only grounds upon which peace could be negotiated would be his reinstatement and a letter of recommendation by the board.

J. E. De La Vergne hurled a bombshell into the meeting when he charged that the Wintersburg Methodist church dominated the community and that the Rev. W. A. Matson, former pastor "preached the Carl Marx principles in the pulpit and community." He also charged that he "had been on the spot" ever since he opposed the preaching of Marxism by Matson. The school board members, he declared, attend this church. Vernon Hill, T. J. Holt and C. E. Worthy, he alleged, are influenced by members of the church who do not even live in the Oceanview district.

Referring to the charge of non-cooperation for which Gebauer was dismissed from the school, Mrs. R. A. Ross, a member of the committee meeting with Adkinson, said that of five teachers interviewed, four had declared that he cooperated in every way and the fifth declined to make a statement. Following his dismissal Gebauer charged that his lack of cooperation consisted in his objection to the circulation of salacious literature by certain teachers and permitting use of filthy language in classrooms. In a statement yesterday members of the school board said that if Gebauer knew of such condition he was not fulfilling his duty as a teacher when he failed to notify the proper authorities so that action could be taken.

Political aspects of the case were revealed with the charge that the trouble started when Holt was elected to the school board. It was charged that Holt had promised residents of Oceanview that Gebauer would be made superintendent of schools in the event he became a member of the board. Community support was accorded him following this statement and it was charged that the promise was not kept. It was also alleged that Gebauer had been warned by Hill that he was "too friendly" with W. De La Vergne, recently defeated for a seat on the board.

born May 16. The baby has been named C. Harold Dale, Jr. Mr. Dale is the son of Chester I. Dale, 1924 North Ross street.

Members of the Breakfast club participated in their annual frolic at the Ed Hall ranch on East Fourth street last evening, through the courtesy of Mr. Hall, the president of the organization. Hunter Leach and his able assistant, Ed Farnsworth jr., were the Waldorf-Astoria chefs imported for the event, who escaped with their lives. The introductory remarks were a paraphrase for administrative guidance offered by C. F. Skirvin, and negatively by Thomas Pickett, who wrote both the defense and rebuttal.

The accordion and banjo music was unfolded by Joe Kozina of Villa Park and Dick Love of Long Beach, directed by Ed Hall, and misdirected by Milan Miller. When it came to community singing the community objected.

The initiatory services were in charge of Guy Gilbert. If the candidates survive they will be eligible for membership in the Breakfast club next Thursday morning.

It proved to be a happy event for Breakfast club members, who thoroughly enjoyed the hospitality of President Hall.

LUNCHEON HELD BY D.U.V.

Commemorating mothers, the annual mother-daughter luncheon of the Daughters of Union Veterans, was held yesterday in the First Christian church with more than 60 attending. A covered-dish luncheon was served at noon.

Mrs. Lena Hewitt was in charge of the program.

Five mothers of members were present. Mrs. Anna Pendleton, mother of Mrs. Addie Gardner; Mrs. Mary Ramsdale, mother of Mrs. Edith Trolle; Mrs. Retta Campbell, mother of Mrs. Ethel Vincent and Mrs. Violet Pavan; Mrs. Laura Boyd, mother of Mrs. Anna Sheelin, and Mrs. Florence Price, mother of Mrs. Thelma Willingham. Other guests had been adopted by many of the group as mothers for the luncheon.

Great baskets of flowers had been arranged by Mrs. Olive Willard to decorate the banquet room.

Dogs took on personality this morning when masters swapped tales about their entries as the American Legion auxiliary peddled dog show swung into action at the Hill building. The show will be open until 9 o'clock tonight.

When Herda, a 160-pound Great Dane, stepped into her stall, the floor boards weaved, and a carpenter had to be called to make larger headquarters.

Across the way from her, a curly French poodle refused to look dignified, and rubbed her head against any passerby.

Sama Chin, a Japanese chin spaniel shown in the recent "David Copperfield" movie, looked askance at the crowd, remembering her speed supremacy at turning around on her hind legs.

Peggy in Bassinet

Peggy, a pomeranian, owned by Mrs. Norman Christensen, sat comfortably in a pink and blue bassinet, brought along for the occasion.

From the Bellflower Gun dog kennels were High-tone Tony Boy, an English setter, who had won first field trials in Southern California in 1934, and Maesydd Mary, an import from England, that won the Canadian bench championship two years ago.

Mickey, a pointer that had begun to work when six weeks old, was present from the Irvine ranch. Two German shepherds, Falto, trained in Germany in protection, and Juna Picardy, a Canadian champion, originally imported from England, were among entries of H. C. Schnackenberg of Orange.

Two Dobermans

Two Dobermans from the Kuriska kennels in Westminster were slated to give demonstrations of a work-out in protection this afternoon.

A grandson of Traffic Officer, world champion greyhound racer, Azucar King was on show with Alvin S, a futurity winner, by M. Stroud of North Artesia street.

The pet of the show, however, was the Duchess of Roxburgh, whose 12 Springer Spaniels took a stall to themselves. Her previous litters have numbered 11 and 14 puppies. R. A. Boxburgh, owner, says he reads her an essay by Theodore Roosevelt on "Large Families" before each litter of pups.

BETTER BEHAVE WOMEN PRISONERS

LOS ANGELES, Saturday, May 18. (AP)—It will be a case of just too bad if women prisoners in the county jail choose to get unruly. An expert is teaching 14 police matrons in the jail the ancient art of Jui-Jitsu—and it isn't the gentle, modified form, either.

The crash occurred as the meeting in the church was breaking up. Airport officials said Hausner had promised to stunt his ship above the church at the conclusion of the ceremonies.

NEW YORK, Saturday, May 18. (AP)—Stanley Hausner, Polish flier killed in an airplane crash at Detroit today, was dramatically rescued from his plane adrift on the Atlantic ocean in 1932 when his projected New York-to-Warsaw flight failed.

For a week he clung to his wrecked ship. Hope was abandoned for him, by all except his wife. Helplessly, he watched 16 ships pass by him before he was finally sighted and rescued, exhausted but uninjured.

On his return to this country, Hausner was warmly welcomed and feted, and began planning another New York-to-Warsaw flight. He was in Detroit to obtain financial backing for the trip.

Pleading not guilty, by reason of former jeopardy, Marie Hill, Los Angeles Negress, was freed of a grand theft charge by Judge G. K. Scovel, department 3, superior court, yesterday and ordered released from jail.

The woman was arrested more than a month ago when she is alleged to have stolen a purse containing $13 from M. F. Larsen. The woman is said to have thrown her arms around Larsen and, in the ensuing struggle, removed the purse from his pocket. Larsen held the woman until the arrival of police.

In Anaheim police court she pleaded guilty to charges of drunkenness, vagrancy and petit theft, receiving jail terms totalling 45 days. A few days after her sentence on the petit theft charge the district attorney filed an information in superior court charging her with grand theft in connection with the same case. Relatives in Los Angeles obtained legal advice for the woman and the former jeopardy plea was entered.

OPERETTA, DANCE ATTENDED BY 150

An audience of more than 150 persons attended the operetta and dance given last night in the Y. W. C. A. rooms by the Young People's Fellowship of the Episcopal church of the Messiah.

Tommy Bessett's orchestra played for the dance which followed the musical extravaganza. Refreshments were served by a group from the organization.

At the regular meeting tomorrow night at 6:15, Mrs. Evanda Perry will accompany a lecture on Mexico with a showing of moving pictures on the country.

ELABORATE PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR LAGUNA BEACH ARTS FESTIVAL

EVENT WILL BE HELD 8 DAYS IN JUNE

Committees Named to Handle All Phases of Program

By MAXINE STOREY
LAGUNA BEACH, Saturday, May 18.—Those who visit the annual Laguna Beach festival of arts to be held for eight days this year, beginning June 22, will be taken on one of the most unusual trips known.

Visitors will have the opportunity of visiting such countries as France, Germany, Russia, China, England, and America and on a huge pirate ship! The strange part about it is that the ship doesn't move.

The festival of arts executive board and committees, headed by L. F. Mallow, has planned that the exhibits and programs will be held on the grounds at Heister Point, adjoining the art gallery. The front of the grounds in which the festivities will be held is to be a huge pirate ship, the platform on which programs will take place will also be a pirate ship, and in the background one may look out over the ocean and Laguna rocks.

The setting will undoubtedly be the most picturesque and unique yet chosen for the annual festival. Each night the flag of a different foreign country will fly over the entrance and the program on the inner ship will consist of folk dances, folk songs and customs of that country. In that way, visitors will see foreign countries each night and be whisked from one colorful pageant to another during the eight days.

Special Feature

Miss Dewey Deal, author of the play "Beethoven's Symphony," soon to be produced in Laguna, well known director of little theater groups throughout the United States, and a nationally known writer, is to have charge of the afternoon programs. During each afternoon Miss Deal plans a children's hour, women's hour in which she will interview a different woman celebrity of Laguna each day, and a musical hour.

Another feature of the colorful activities planned will be the Masters' pageant which is in charge of Roy Ropp, well known artist of Laguna. Each night The Masters' pageant will show a series of paintings of the old masters posed by people of Laguna. This has long been a tradition of the festival of arts and is the most popular of all features of the programs. This year people will also show in real life their interpretations of famous sculpture.

Frank Nieman's dance orchestra will be featured each night for 15 minutes in a program of popular songs written by Laguna young people or for Laguna. Popular songs written by Dean Benton, now under contract at R.K.O. studios; Bob Stringer, composer of the music for the recent musical in Laguna, "Flotsam and Jetsam"; and a musical for M.G.M. studios, and John Rox, former Laguna resident and composer now in New York, will be heard.

Master of Ceremonies

Victor Rankin, one of Laguna's most popular young men, has been selected as master of ceremonies for the evenings' entertainments. Rankin, a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley, is well known in Laguna as a singer and actor. He had the juvenile lead in the recent musical, "Flotsam and Jetsam," and a leading character part in the last play presented by the Community club, "An Invitation to a Murder." Guest masters of ceremony will be invited to take part each night and these will be chosen from among Laguna's celebrities.

Committees appointed to organize and superintend the festival of arts are: Executive board, L. F. Mallow, chairman of the entire festival; Ajax Wolfe, vice chairman; J. Marie Ropp, secretary; Frank D. Hever, treasurer, and directors, Charles F. Riesner, H. H. Henshaw and Virginia Wooley.

Festival of arts committee: Virginia Wooley, chairman; George Brandriff and Roy Ropp. Crafts committee: William F. Pitts, chairman; Lenoir Dula and Harvey Gamble, Jr. Construction and grounds committee: Ajax Wolfe, chairman, Tom Pillsbury, Tom Harper and H. Henshaw.

Other committees: Publicity, Sherman Paddock; entertainment committee, Vera Newcomb, chairman; Dewey Deal, George Dunham, Wayne Moore.

NOTABLES VISIT ORANGE Students of H.S. Make Merry

ORANGE, Saturday, May 18.—Persons not appearing on the enrollment list of Orange high school, but apparently students, and very much present, greeted the eyes of teachers Friday morning. The Dionne quintuplets might at first seem a little young to have advanced so far in learning, and Santa Claus surely finished school long ago. However, things are not always as they seem, and upon investigation, the "quints" were found to be Rosemary Flippin, Mary Lee Walker, Clara Meyer, Malinda Walker and Edythe Kuester; jolly old St. Nick was Jean Jordan.

A parade of other notables ushered in the festivities connected with the annual senior "ditch day." Gordon Bishop made a fine Abraham Lincoln, and the devil himself, impersonated by Charles Dever walked with a disgusted millionaire wearing a barrel. There were two Ghandis, Art Craft and Weldon Dillingham, while Nelson Kogler as a bathing beauty in curls and sun suit was very effective. Bill Tritt portrayed the world's homeliest woman with Bud Adams for her husband, while the Martin Johnson party composed of Fred Newcomb, Edwin Quandt, Henry Nielson, Elmer Morner and Walter Leichtfuss, created a great deal of interest. Finally, a "mystery man" clad in two burlap sacks and several pasteboard cartons, defied anyone to identify him. Other seniors were dressed in costumes too numerous to mention.

Pictures were taken of the whole motley crew, and they immediately left for the hills where the boys cleaned off the large "O." They spent the remainder of the day at the beach, with lunch served there at noon.

FLOWER SHOW IS SUCCESS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Saturday, May 18.—Members of the Huntington Beach Garden club have transformed the city auditorium into a lovely garden where hundreds of bright spring flowers grow between walks and around a pool in the club's first attempt at producing a spring flower show. Throngs of flower-lovers wandered about on the opening day and many more visited the show which was open until late last night.

The garden is laid out in front of a typical California home with its roses climbing over lattice work or arch entrance at the gateway of the picket fence. The little home is an entry of the Christian church. Alf Dowdy constructed the wee dwelling and Mrs. William Clegg did the decorating.

Name Minister To Deliver Baccalaureate

WESTMINSTER, Saturday, May 18.—The Rev. Clifford Jones will deliver the baccalaureate sermon for the graduating class of the Westminster school. Special music will be provided. The congregations of the Westminster Presbyterian church and the Nazarene church of Midway City are invited to be present at the service which is scheduled for Sunday evening, June 2, at 8 o'clock in the Community clubhouse at Midway City.

LAD RECOVERING FROM OPERATION

MIDWAY CITY, Saturday, May 18.—Billy Johnson, young son of Dr. and Mrs. R. I. Johnson, was operated upon for mastoid at Saint Joseph's hospital on Wednesday. He is getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Platt of Hemet are planning to make their home in Santa Ana in the near future. Mrs. Platt was formerly Lillian Arnett.

The Midway City Woman's club will hold the final meeting of the club year at the clubhouse on Thursday, May 23. A delightful program has been arranged. Installation of officers will be held, with Miss Sarah Whitfield, president of the Huntington Beach Woman's club, conducting the installation ceremony. Mona Summers Smith of Santa Ana will talk on "What's New in Drama," and Mrs. Hensley, the music chairman, will furnish the music for the day.

CHURCH TO HOLD 'MASONIC NIGHT'

The Rev. Stanley Powers, pastor, will speak on the topic, "Meaning of Masonic Symbols" or "What I Saw in the Masonic Lodge Room." The Consistory male quartet of Los Angeles will be present to render special music for this service.

Frank Nieman, Wes Densmore, Charles Gilmore, J. Marie Ropp, Doreen Pilling and Tom Pillsbury. Programs: Frederick Heckman, chairman; Dorothy Doane, Marjorie Newcomb and Maxine Storey. Booth and business transactions: Perry McCullough, chairman; Gene Douglas and C. R. Pettit. Masters' pageant: Roy Ropp, chairman; Mabel Maddux, George K. Krone, Ann Carlson and Lenoir Dula.

PLAN MODJESKA STATUE IN ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, Saturday, May 18. Culminating 11 years of effort to obtain recognition of Anaheim as the first residence in this country of Madame Modjeska, internationally famous actress, Louis Danz announced today that plans are practically completed for erection of a statue of the actress in the city park here.

Eugene Maier-Krieg of Vienna, sculptor on the project, has completed molds for the statue, which will be ready for unrolling in a month or six weeks, Danz said today. The sculptor has been doing the work through the Public Works of Art administration, which donated $15,000 for completion of the statutory group.

Obtains Aid

Through his membership on the Southern California committee of the Public Works of Art, Danz was able to obtain aid in completion of the statue. Assistance in paying for necessary materials was given by the Anaheim city council, Rotary club and private citizens, Danz said.

Madame Modjeska's figure, costumed as Maria Stuart, one of her greatest roles, will be in the center of a group of four life-size figures illustrating occupations of the community. The central figure is over eight feet in height.

Two Generations

In preparing the program for the unveiling of the statue Danz hopes to have two generations of the Modjeska family present, he said today. Ralph Modjeska, a son, who is at present in New York, and Felix Modjeska, a grandson, of Balboa, will be invited to attend, he said.

Ralph Modjeska has informed Danz that the head of the actress as completed by Maier-Krieg is the finest that he has seen. The sculptor, whose headquarters are in Hollywood, is planning to leave for Mexico City as soon as the group is completed to erect another statue, Danz said.

FAITH OF OLD MAN IS UPHELD AFTER BATTLE

NEWPORT BEACH, Saturday, May 18.—A battle of long duration was ended here this week. And the most indomitable of the two contestants was the victor.

The two battlers were: the wind and the waves and the spirit of an old man.

The elements started the battle. Last year the ocean began to encroach upon the beach homes in West Newport. Closer and closer the waves washed, threatening the houses built overlooking the ocean. Finally, the danger became too great. Homes were moved and residents found new locations. But not one old man. He refused to admit defeat.

One day last summer, as he was attempting to strengthen the piling supporting his home, Death entered the contest. The old man was stricken with a heart attack.

The Builders of Santa Ana are ready to answer your questions and get your home in ship-shape for the Summer and the years to come. They're ready to point out the little things that can be done to make your living more modernly comfortable. They'll be glad to submit to you free estimates on any job, without obligation. # SANTA ANA, HUNTINGTON BEACH AND OLIVE NINES VICTORIOUS

Column Left!

By FRANK ROGERS

Reports from a trusty operative indicate that George Lackaye was consumed with rightful indignation at our yammering too much about other night ball chucks and overlooking his and Westminister's "Fuzzy" Errington, a pitcher.

"Fuzzy," our informer tells us, was bested in a mound duel but showed plenty and should be mentioned consistently when we get symphonic about pitchers. Which we often do.

Overlapping duties kept us away from Westminister last night, but our clay-footed idols permitting, we will see each of these national league teams in action fore long.

Babe Ruth, if you'll pardon our bringing the subject up again, is quitting and denying it with all the temperamental vagueness of an operatic star. But we'll bet this typewriter ribbon against a pair of second-hand castanets that before the world series puts us all off schedule the Bambino will be fire-siding it.

If the boss isn't looking—this practically amounts to a day off. That same operative has brought back the rest of this department from Westminister.

Nocturnal notes on the Santa Ana-Westminister conflict:

Ray "Doc" Smith, second-sacker, received the plaudits of the capacity crowd in the eleventh when he knocked down Errington's sizzling grounder and caught the Westminister chucker at first. It was a blow that ordinarily would have been a single.

Ben "Bono" Koral's continual chatter behind the plate kept the Stars on their toes all evening. Incidentally, Koral was responsible for some other chatter on the part of Managers Cole and Lackaye in the seventh. Koral struck out, but claimed his bat hit Catcher Ed Daley's glove, and Umpire "Shorty" Smith allowed "Bono" to advance to first over a storm of protest.

Chewing gum (or tobacco?) throughout the contest, smiling after every strike-out he registered, and frowning when he got into that terrible predicament in the tenth, Pitcher Coates was a show in himself.

Westminister's orange and black uniforms and Santa Ana's red and white lended tremendous color to the game, not to mention the world of color contributed by the players.

The Daley brothers, Ed and Leavitt, went hitless. They are both formidable, however, and were so good last season that they now occupy the clean-up positions for the Stars and Avengers.

Santa Ana did not turn out very well at Westminister, but what few fans the Stars had certainly made their presence known. Most everyone knew Bill Flood, high school basketball star, was at the game. With a comment for every player, he made enough racket for three routers.

Mrs. Moody To Seek Comeback in England

NET STAR TO LEAVE SOON ON QUEST

Wimbledon Again Lures Onerime Court Queen; Sails Next Week

By RUSSELL NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO, Saturday, May 18. (AP)—Back to the scene of former triumphs, Helen Wills Moody was headed today, bent on again ascending the heights she once ruled as queen of the tennis world.

"I cannot say definitely I will play, but if I feel as well as I do now, I will," said the former tennis champion, who was forced from the courts two years ago by a back injury.

A trunk full of tennis clothes and new rackets bespoke the confidence Mrs. Moody did not herself expect that she would find it impossible to resume her place in international competition.

Complete secrecy surrounded Mrs. Moody's intentions until a few hours before her departure last night of the Overland limited when she disclosed to The Associated Press plans for her intended comeback.

"I just made up my mind this afternoon," she said. But back of that statement lies the story of six weeks of hard practice which apparently convinced her that she has indeed recovered from the injury that forced her to default to Helen Jacobs in the finals of the national championships two years ago.

Mrs. Moody, seven times national titleholder, plans to sail from New York for England next week.

Those Tillers at Tustin Union high school went on another rampage to tame Brea-Olinda's Wildcats, 16-3, in Orange County Prep league football yesterday.

Coach Bill Cole's nine belted 19 hits in the free-scoring fray, which reminded fans of Tustin's 13-1 romp over Laguna Beach and its 12-1 circus victory over Newport Harbor. But that 6-4 loss to Anaheim last week may cost the Tillers the 35 championship.

The box score:
Tustin AB R H
P. Francis 2b 3 1 1
Forbes 1b 6 1 2
Richards 3b 6 1 3

Coast Batting Orgy Subsides After 118 Runs Made in 2 Days

(By the Associated Press)

Baseball in the Pacific Coast league is back on a normal basis after a two-day hitting spree that brought 118 runs across the plate.

Yesterday only 32 runs came in in four games, which is not many for eight teams.

Oakland and Los Angeles continued their leadership fight by winning last night from Portland and San Francisco.

Three Doubles
Lou Garland shut out the Seals 3 to 0 with four-hit twirling. Hal Stitzel of the Seals, held the Angels scoreless until the eighth, when consecutive doubles by Mark Guidat, Jim Oglesby and Gene Lillard, and a single by Jimmy Reese netted three runs. Up to that time he had allowed only four bingles.

Alex Metzler and Nino Bongioanni of Portland couldn't decide who should take Stan Keyes' long fly in the sixth and while they were thinking it over, Keyes and Bernard Uhalt romped home, giving the Acorns two runs to tie the score.

Runs in the seventh and eighth brought in two more for a 4 to 2 Acorns victory.

Up in Sacramento, Walter Becker Bill Salkeld in the tenth to the Missions walked pinch hitter in the winning Solon run, 8 to 7.

Manager Frank Shellenback hurried Hollywood to a 6 to 3 victory over Seattle to win his fifth game of the season. Singles by Andy Herrington, Mike Hunt and Harry Rice, in the first gave the Indians their two runs and Shellenback never let a man past second thereafter.

75 TRACKMEN IN COLLEGE TANGLE

Intercollegiate Meet at Stanford Finds U. S. C. Favored

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Saturday, May 18. (AP)—Approximately 75 athletes of the state's four major universities will meet on the same ground here today, winding up the regular track season in the fourth California intercollegiate track and field championships.

The big quadrangular meet will be the last competition between the "big four" universities—Stanford, California, Southern California and California at Los Angeles—before the teams travel east for the annual I. C. A. A. A. championships at Boston, May 30 and June 1.

Four for Trojans
Dean Cromwell's U. S. C. Trojans take the field as overwhelming favorites by virtue of their success this season. They have taken honors in the three intercollegiate held in 1930, 1931 and 1932, and are expected to take it four times in a row.

The fastest assembly of hurdlers ever developed in the state will make both the highs and lows wide open races. It might be either Tom Moore of California, Phil Cope, U. S. C., or Sammy Klopstock in the highs. Moore ran a 14.2 race at the Fresno relays last Saturday.

Paul in Hurdles
In the lows the battle may be even closer, with Dell Fishback of California rated but a small favorite over the field of Klopstock, Eddie Hall, Santa Ana; Norman Paul and Phil Strother, of U. S. C. and Moore of California.

LITTLE SEEKING ENGLISH TITLE

ST. ANNE'S—ON-THE-SEA, Eng., Saturday, May 18. (AP)—Leading simon-pures from the United States, France and the empire were gathered in this little Lancashire town today, putting the final touches to their golfing equipment in preparation for the British amateur championship, beginning Monday.

Numerically the American challenge will be as strong as it ever has been but as a matter of old fact, pre-tournament indications are that Lawson Little, husky Californian, defending the title he won a year ago at Prestwick, will have to shoulder United States hopes all by himself.

Little is the only outstanding golfer of the American contingent of 13, although such players as Dick Chapman of Greenwich, Conn., and Tommy Taylor of Piping Rock, N. Y., may cause some trouble to the home-breds.

TRIOPP 24 NINE DOWNS RIVALS

Boy Scouts of Santa Ana Troop 24 scored a 14-9 victory over Troop 3 squad in a fast night ball game at the municipal bowl last night.

Members of the Troop 3 team are: Jimmy Hehn, c; Earl Holt, lf; Alfred Morgan, p; Maurice Young, 1b; Bert Flood, ss; Charles Geren, 3b; Raymond Dallas, 2b; Donald Cameron, rf; Billy Gordon, cf; and Kenneth Akin, catcher.

Michigan State college won its first four home baseball games this season each by the margin of one run—once coming from seven runs behind to win, another time frittering away all but one of a seven-run lead.

Unleashing one of the most furious attacks ever seen in National league night ball, Huntington Beach's omnipotent Oilers, with all the power that carried them to the southern California championship last year, annihilated the Long Beach Admirals by the unusual score of 21 to 4 in a wild game at Huntington Beach last night.

Sabella III
Illness of their pitching ace, "Chico" Sabella, had Joe Rodgers and his Oilers in a dangerous mood. They found the offerings of Wilbur Stinchfield and "Speedball" Bagley for 22 hits, including two homers, two doubles and a triple—while "Lefty" Lesser, substituting for the ailing Sabella, fanned seven and held the Admirals to six hits.

Wilcox Hits
Long Beach's new catcher, "Eeny" Wilcox of Santa Ana, blasted a double and single in three trips. For Huntington Beach, George Murray received four for five, Henry "Red" Thiery and Randolph Bell four for six, and Orville Schuchardt three for four.

REBOIN STARS AS OLIVE WINS, 2-1

Alvin Reboin's double, scoring Bruce Harnois who had reached second on a bounce-hit, and Pitcher Jack Dugan's timely single into right field paved the way for Olive's Packers to win from the Anaheim Valencias, 2 to 1 at Olive last night.

Reboin's hit produced Olive's first run in the second. Emmett Seacord, Anaheim centerfielder, dropped Allen Kidder's high fly in the sixth, but a fielder's choice by Cecil Sauers caught "Red" at third. Sauers advanced on Hahn's grounder, scored on Dugan's single.

Spectacular Catch
"Chuck" Comstock, Anaheim shortstop, made a spectacular catch of a hot liner by Reboin with the bases loaded in the fifth.

Dugan allowed six hits for Olive. The veteran Al Bushman issued 10 bingles on the mound for Anaheim. The game lasted slightly more than an hour.

As a fitting climax to an even dozen innings of fierce battling, Third Baseman Tommy Young lined a sharp double which hit just inside right field and scored Rod Ballard and George Preble to provide Big Bill Cole's sterling Stars of Santa Ana with a 2-0 shut-out over George Lackaye's dynamic Avengers of Westminister last night.

Comments among the fans as they left the Westminister park suggested that the Star-Aviator thriller was the best game many of them had ever witnessed. It was baseball as baseball should be played, with brilliant pitching, almost flawless fielding, and several tense moments.

Coates Fans 12
That long-awaited pitcher's duel between Slim Jim Coates of the Stars and the heavy-set "Fuzzy" Errington of the Flyers was the major highlight of the interesting struggle, with the invincible Coates striking out 12 and issuing but four hits—all singles. Errington fanned 8 with his blinding speed and change of pace, and was nicked for 7 hits.

The Stars staged an up-hill fight most of the way, and warded off dangerous attacks by Westminister in the ninth and tenth. Joe Hosack, outfielder, led off with a bounce hit in the last of the ninth with the score at 0-0. But Coates retired the next three Flyers on two easy pop-ups and a strike-out. It looked like Westminister's game in the tenth when Dave Webb, noted bounce-hitter, cracked an infield single and reached second on Francis Conrad's over-throw to first. Ed Daley, catcher, walked. Pitcher Coates forced Floyd Montgomery and Fred Kohler to pop up to Catcher "Bono" Koral, and First Baseman McClain retired the side with a lofty fly to Rod Ballard in center field.

Interesting Twelfth
Nothing sensational occurred in the eleventh. But the twelfth created plenty of excitement.

After Leavitt Daley had popped up to his brother Ed behind the plate, Ballard singled to left field and Preble grounded to Jim McNabb at second. McNabb elected to throw to third, but Kohler dropped the ball and Ballard was safe. Young's double to right field produced the winning runs. Westminister started off well in its last of the third extra inning. Les Hascort singled in field. But the next three Avengers were retired.

Santa Ana came close to scoring in the second when Hosack muffed an attempted shoe-string catch of Preble's fly to right field. George advanced to second on Young's single, but he and Young died on base when Koral struck out.

Westminister was held in check aside from its embarrassing threats in the latter innings. Earlier, the Flyers were retired in 1-2-3 fashion seven times.

Long Beach's Rear Admirals came to the municipal bowl for Santa Ana's third start next Tuesday. Olive plays at Huntington Beach, and Westminister at Anaheim.

TWO FILMS END AT BROADWAY

Theatergoers will have the last chance tonight to see George O'Brien's new starring vehicle, "The Cowboy Millionaire," and the exciting drama, "Chinatown Squad," when the two films close a run at the Broadway theater.

"The Cowboy Millionaire," one of the two pictures on the double bill at the Broadway, blazed a new path in pioneering a different type of action picture. While there is no village street shooting or action of the type commonly found in western films, the picture is filled with suspense and red-blooded action. Evelyn Bostock, talented English actress, plays the feminine romantic role.

THRILL SEEKERS TO BE GIVEN TREAT

Theatergoers who like chilly, horrifying pictures will be satisfied if they see the supreme shocker, "Werewolf of London," which will open at the West Coast theater on June 5 with a second feature, "Daring Young Man," a story of a newspaper reporter who left his bride at the altar, according to Manager Lester J. Fountain.

Henry Hull plays the title role in "Werewolf of London," hailed as the most blood-curdling film which has yet been produced. Warner Oland contributes his usual weird, eerie acting. James Dunn and Mae Clarke have the featured roles in "Daring Young Man."

Sixty thousand pounds of American cottonseed will be distributed by the Shantung Cotton Association among farmers of the Chinese province.

HERE UNTIL WEDNESDAY

Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald, talented vocalists who appear in colorful singing roles in "Naughty Marietta," Victor Herbert's great musical romantic adventure, are shown below in one of the scenes from the great film, which will be at the West Coast theatre until Wednesday night.

CIRCUS SETTING FOR PICTURE AT BROADWAY

Combine Shirley Temple with almost any sort of a story—and you have a picture that is better than good—but combine Shirley Temple with a compelling story with a circus sequence and you have the truly great picture, "Our Little Girl," which opens at the Broadway theater for a four-day run.

Hundreds of novels and short stories in print and typescript were read before this particular story was selected for Shirley. When the list thinned down to 30, the producer discovered that "Our Little Girl" was ready-made for the adorable star.

"Poodles" Hanneford, world-famous clown and circus rider, has an amazing act; he clowns, rides, feints and thrills in the circus sequence which has everything complete from the wild animals to the big three-ring tent.

"Robber Kitten" is the title of the Symphony cartoon showing in conjunction with "Our Little Girl" and a Laurel and Hardy comedy, "Fixers Up," as funny as Laurel and Hardy comedy can be, which is plenty, is the comedy booked for these four days. Screen Snapshots, "Taming the Wild" and World News complete the program.

In front of the Sedgewick, but she didn't look at them. Neither did she hear an auto horn honking as she turned to the door.

"Fran! Fran!"

Startled, she looked around, one hand on the door to push it open. The voice was familiar. It sounded like Ward's. It was Ward and he was coming toward her from the dark blue roadster.

"Fran—I've been waiting for you. I've got something to tell you. Won't you get in the car and take a little ride?" His face seemed very white in the twilight, and his voice was vibrant with emotion.

The girl felt his arm on hers drawing her to the car, helping her into the seat. She heard him slam the door, saw him in a weaving daze go around the car and get in on his side. The sound of the engine starting was like the roar and pounding of her heart.

"You're going to think I'm an awful fool, Fran," he was saying, and his words came to her as if they were being spoken from a great distance. "And I am a fool, and maybe you're going to laugh at me, but I hope not. Promise me you won't."

She couldn't answer just then, because her voice would have broken, but she shook her head. Laugh at Ward? She wanted to rest her head on his shoulder and cry and cry . . .

"I'd better stop. I can't talk when I'm driving—!" He pulled the car up on a side street and shut off the engine. It sputtered softly and then died, but the rumble that was almost like the engine of the blue roadster.

"I don't know exactly how to tell you this, Fran, but I've got to. I didn't mean that you should ever know. I thought I could stop seeing you—and everything would be all right. I'd forget you in time. Well," and he gave a bitter laugh, "that's what I thought, but it didn't work out that way. I can't forget you—I know that now. I tried for a solid week, tried my level best. Every day I'd say to myself that I wouldn't see you. I knew what time you left the office and I'd go out earlier or later, so I'd miss you. It was a struggle, but I did it. Foolish, wasn't it, when I was wanting to see you every minute?"

Like a Dream

Fran closed her eyes. She wanted it to go on. This dream. For it couldn't be true. Ward wasn't with her, talking to her like this, telling her the things she wanted him to tell her, the things she had dreamed he would tell her. No, it wasn't true. Soon she would wake up and find herself in 522, sitting by the telephone, thinking about him, waiting for him to call.

But if this was a dream why did she feel his arm next to hers? It was someone's arm, a man's arm . . .

"Tuesday night after I left you, I told myself that I was never going to take you out again; I was never going to see you again if I could help it—because I knew Tuesday night, Fran, that I loved you. And it seemed so preposterous to me that I should love you, when I had known you for such a little time, and when I'd made up my mind I wasn't going to get married. I didn't tell you before, but I had made up my mind I wasn't going to marry. I thought I was sufficient for myself—I wish you'd help me, Fran. This is awfully hard for me to tell—"

"What do you want me to say?" she asked shakily, her eyes closed. "I want you to tell me—tell me that you love me a little, too—"

"I do, Ward. So much, so very much!"

There were some cars parked

OUR LITTLE GIRL

VISION FUTURE IN NEW FILM

A vision of the future, if science keeps up its present stride, may be seen in "Air Hawks," a thrilling tale of aviation coming to the Broadway theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday, in which a deadly death ray is used to set ablaze airplanes.

On the same bill and directly in contrast with this ultra-modern tale, is the ever loved story of "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," replete with drama of a different sort and of another era, but none the less poignant.

Swift Plot

Featuring Ralph Bellamy, as the owner of an airline competing with another company for lucrative air-mail contracts, the plot of "Air Hawks" is swiftly developed. A mad scientist is employed by the rival company and the death ray he has perfected is used in bringing down in fire the planes of the other concern.

Tala Birell, is seen as the sweetheart of Bellamy and Wiley Post, noted 'round-the-world aviator, is seen in person as himself and one of Bellamy's pilots. Miss Birell began her stage career as an understudy of Marlene Dietrich in Berlin. The story, the cast and the use of

It wasn't a dream because she was in his arms, and he was crushing her to him, his lips were on her mouth, and Fran knew that she had never been so happy before in all her life. His fingers drew off her hat, and he kissed her hair, and her temples, and then her thin curved eyebrows because he whispered he had always wanted to.

"And you'll marry me?"

Fran Accepts

"I'll marry you—oh, Ward, if you knew how I've wanted to see you!"

"And I, Fran. What an idiot I've been. To think that I could forget you—put you out of my life. Tonight when I saw you in the corner, I was frightened, because I hadn't expected to see you. My watch was fast—I found that out later. I fought with myself for two miles, and then you won, dear, and I came here to the Sedgewick to wait for you. I don't know what I would have done if you hadn't come straight home—I probably would have turned the town upside down looking for you!" He lifted her left hand to his lips, and kissed the ring finger. "Tonight we're going to buy a ring for this finger. Lots of jewelry stores open—"

Fran nodded happily and sat very still in his arms.

Dreams did come true, if you wished hard enough, prayed hard enough, cared hard enough. . . .

"Dinner at Leon's," Ward suggested after a while, "and then we'll buy your ring?"

"Dinner at Leon's?" Fran repeated.

"But first, I've got to send a wire to my mother—even before we eat. She doesn't know about you, Fran, but she will after she gets my wire, and the letter I'm going to write tonight—"

So before they went to Leon's Ward found a telephone office, and went in alone. Fran would have been surprised at the wire, for it didn't go to his mother, nor to Iowa. It went to Ellen Spencer at a suburb near the city, and it read, "Everything fine. Pulled the deal. Nothing to worry about any more."

It was signed Jimmy, which was the code signature upon which Ward and Ellen had determined.

Ward was grinning as he pulled out the change for the message, and paid the girl at the counter.

BEAUTIES SEEN IN HUBERT'S MASTERPIECE

With old St. Louis as a setting, a bevy of "hand-picked" screen beauties occupy a unique position in "Naughty Marietta," spectacular filmization of Victor Herbert's musical masterpiece with Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy, which now is showing at the West Coast theater.

This group represents the Casquette Girls, sent from France to Louisiana to mate with its early settlers in the days of Louis XV. They figure, in the picture, in its amazing "marriage auction" sequences. The younger feminine players of Hollywood were canvassed and each of the girls personally and specially chosen for a place in this group, which is headed by Mary Doran, noted for her many comedy roles, and Cecilia Parker, who recently played Garbo's sister in "The Painted Veil." Such players as Jean Chatterton, Pat Farley, Jane Barnes, Kay English, Linda Parker, Jane Mercer and others are in the interesting group.

Van Dyke Directs

Directed by W. S. Van Dyke, the picture is a gripping drama of the settling of New Orleans, into which the original Herbert music is interwoven. Its song hits include "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "I'm Falling in Love with Someone," "Italian Street Song," "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," "Chansonette," the great embarkation number and others.

NEWEST MAE WEST FILM OPENS AT WEST COAST THURSDAY

Mae West's new picture, "Goin' to Town," will open an engagement of a week at the West Coast theater next Thursday, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

In this new production, Miss West undergoes the strange and eventful transition from a bronchitis-coughing cowgirl to the sweetheart of society in Southampton, without losing her poise or her wisecracking ability, advance notices say.

Modern Clothes

West's adventures in "Goin' to Town," which presents her in modern clothes, and up-to-date settings, start way back in the cattle country where she inherits the money of a cattle baron, and decides to go after a handsome young Englishman on whom she had an eye for some time.

In addition to Cavanagh, Ivan Lebedeff, Tito Coral, Monroe Owsley and Marjorie Gatenon appear in the supporting cast of "Goin' to Town."

Short subjects which will be shown with the feature include a Buster Keaton comedy, "Tars and Stripes," a Chick Sale novelty, "Windy," a Scrappy cartoon, "Happy Butterfly," and World News events.

Want Ad Heiress

By ROB EDEEN

FRAN CAREY, stenographer, found an old-fashioned locket. She advertised, but no one claims it for months and then only after a series of puzzling incidents. First Fran is followed by a tall, blond young man. She wears the locket to a dance and a note from him warns her to guard it. Then she finds her apartment has been ransacked for the locket. A false claim for it is made by telephone.

Fran meets and falls in love with WARD QUENTIN, charming, suave, who has opened an office across the hall from where she works. She learns that the man who followed her is CHRISTOPHER ABBOTT, a prominent lawyer. She has been fascinated by him. Ward, however, is the fool of ELLEN and JAY SPENCER, sister and brother, who want the locket. His job is to win Fran, marry her, and then arrange a fatal "accident" for Fran so that he and his co-conspirators may share the fortune from the mysterious locket.

Ward, after having rushed Fran, has been giving her "the absent treatment." She is afraid she has offended him.

nodding. Then the dark blue car was gliding past, and she saw his grey felt hat through the rear window, and the license plate blurry yellow.

He might stop yet—on the other side of the street. . . . But he didn't and soon the car was out of sight, and Fran was stumbling up onto the bus, her eyes filled with tears and a weight like lead in her chest.

He had looked over at her, he had seen her, he had nodded, but he hadn't invited her to ride home. And the girl was trembling, too, with the force of its idling motor. And the girl was trembling, too, with the hope that he might look her way, invite her into the car. So long since she had seen him—a week, but the week was so endless. The longest she had ever spent.

Fran Sees Him

The signal changed and the small coupe started ahead. Now the touring car was before her. Fran. Now, the dark blue roadster! He must look this way! He had to see her!

He did look, he saw her, and a startled look of recognition came into his eyes, and he was nodding.

"I'm getting off at Rider street," the girl next to her said. "I wonder if you could tell me if it's close?"

Rider street—Fran came to herself with a start and glanced out the window. "Two more stops," she replied, and then was sure that if the girl hadn't spoken, she would have missed her stop entirely, and landed at the end of the bus line.

Lonely and Hopeless

At Rider she followed the girl off, and waited for the traffic to change on Tanner. Another lonely hopeless evening—more hopeless than any of the others had been because she had seen Ward. Nina was quite right. She would have to forget him. It was the only thing to do—after tonight.

Again she was on the corner—and again the dark blue roadster was passing, and Ward was nodding, and then going on. Not even smiling. He hadn't smiled, had he? No, he hadn't. Only nodded. It would have been so easy for him to have stopped the car for an instant, and opened the door for her. If he had wanted to, he would have, but he didn't want to. . . .

She crossed Tanner and walked slowly the two blocks to the Sedgewick.

"He didn't want to drive me home," she kept saying to herself. "He didn't want to. He doesn't want to see me any more. He's made that very, very clear—"

There were some cars parked

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

By HOMER CANFIELD

Ben Bernie and "all the lads" open a six-weeks engagement at Catalina tonight. KFI will broadcast the proceedings from 8 to 8:30, and again from 9:45 to 10 o'clock. The Bernie music will be a nightly feature over the Don Lee station during the stay at the island resort. Another feature you'll want to hear is KFI's "Party" for Don Wilson at 8:30 o'clock. Of course you remember that Don was their chief announcer before his conquest of the networks, and few spicils can boast the popularity he has achieved on the Jack Benny program.

Jack Benny, Mary Livingstone and Frank Parker plan to join KFI's staff in a salute to "the great big boy who made good in the Big City." There will be lots of laughs.

A concert celebrating "Monrovia Day" will be broadcast by KMTR starting at 8:30 and continuing until 9:45 with time taken out for the 9 o'clock news reports. The Hollywood station will pick up the program by short wave from KIIQ (2790 kilocycles) for rebroadcasting.

The program will be given by the Southern California High school symphony orchestra of 140 members and chorus of 350 voices. The orchestra will be under the direction of Harold F. Scott, and Frank W. Cummings will conduct the choral numbers.

CORONER'S JURY FAILS TO NAME DEATH CAR DRIVER

A coroner's jury yesterday was unable definitely to determine who was driving the car Sunday night that crashed into a parked truck on Lemoh street in Anaheim, resulting in the death of Harold Rubidoux, 21, Fullerton. Rubidoux was rushed to the Orange county hospital after the accident and died there two hours later from shock and first and second degree burns.

In the opinion of the jurymen, whoever was driving the car was operating it in a negligent manner. Victor Hernandez, 215 Ash street, Anaheim, who was the second passenger in the car, told the jury that Rubidoux had been driving.

The owner of the truck which was struck by the death car was exonerated of all blame.

CONTRACTORS TO MEET ON MONDAY

The General Contractors' association of Orange county will meet at 6:30 p. m. Monday in Armstrong's cafe on the state highway north of the county hospital, according to George A. Barrows, secretary.

F. J. Connolly of the Associated General Contractors of Los Angeles, and Paul DeHuff, manager of the builders' division of the general contractors' code authority will explain procedure established for local administration of the building contractors' code. Particular attention will be devoted to outlining the bid deposit program now being established here.

FARM ADVISOR TO ADDRESS L. A. MEET

Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg will address a meeting of the California Real Estate association at Los Angeles next Thursday evening. His topic will be "Factors influencing the Value of Citrus Property."

These include climate, soil, quantity and quality of water, orchard management, trees, fertilizer, pest control and marketing.

SATURDAY, MAY 18
The steers, Puffy sees, have just had a collision.
It's left their horns tangled. Puff makes a decision:
He loops his rope with the greatest of ease.
And ties them together as nice as you please!

ARTISTRY AMONG LOCAL JUVENILES

SUE FOR YACHT BASIN RENT 'FIRST THE BLADE' RELEASED FOR DISTRIBUTION TODAY

Declaratory relief establishing the rights and responsibilities of both parties and judgment for unpaid rent amounting to $375 plus $28.59 are demanded in a suit filed by Mrs. Carroll B. Beek and named Roy J. Lyon and Edith May Lyon, his wife, as defendants.

According to the complaint, Lyon leased the property abutting on a portion of the north bay at Balboa March 11, 1932, for use as a yacht basin. Under the terms of the lease he was to pay $100 as rental until such time as his business grossed $600 monthly. When the gross income of the business was $600 monthly the rent was to increase to $125. Other increases as the business grew, according to the lease, were to bring the monthly rental up to $200 monthly when the gross monthly income was $1500 or more.

According to the complaint the business has grossed $600 monthly since August 1, 1933 but that Lyons has not paid the increased rent. It is also charged that he failed to pay $24.89 taxes and assessments which he agreed to care for under the terms of his lease. The complaint recites that there is due Mrs. Beek $4200 as rent on the property from March 1, 1932 to April 1, 1935 of which $3825 has been paid on account.

Western Solons Urge PWA Irrigation Fund

WASHINGTON, Saturday, May 18. (P)—A committee of five western senators was named today to urge the public works board to allocate funds immediately for irrigation and reclamation work.

Sensors from 11 western states discussed irrigation with Dr. Elwood Mead, commissioner of reclamation.

On the committee were Senators Pope (D., Idaho), chairman; McNary (R., Ore.), O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), McCadd (D., Cal.), and Hayden (D., Ariz.).

No specific projects were discussed at today's meeting, and Dr. Mead merely outlined the program contemplated in the West without giving detailed information for any section.

By ELLEN SNEBLEY

Vibrant with the inspiration and hope of its young contributors and bound in a brave green symbolic of its name, "First the Blade" went into circulation today.

Eighth annual California inter-collegiate anthology of verse, "First the Blade" has come from Santa Ana junior college's Fine Arts Press "bigger and better" than ever before.

In range of subjects and manner of expression, this newest anthology would seem to indicate a happier trend of thinking among college students. Missing is the questioning, sometimes bitter note frequently found in student verse in the past few years.

Perhaps in a degree the excellence of the volume may be explained in the identities of its judges, Mrs. Eleanor Northcross, Santa Ana junior college dean of women; Miss Beulah May, poet and sculptress, and Mrs. Mona Summers Smith of the public library, actress and book reviewer.

Deserve Credit

Its editor, Eleanor Walter, and the faculty adviser, Thomas Hall Glenn, deserve much credit, as do also Freda Savtelle, associate editor; Reed Sutherland, business manager, and Thomas E. Williams, who directed the printing.

To Beata Bowman of Mount St. Mary's college for her poem, "Prophecy," and to Darrell Marks of Santa Monica junior college for his "Fair-time" were first and second awards for poems of the greatest merit, offered by the modern poetry section of Santa Ana Ebells club.

BOB WILDE IS STUDENT HEAD JOURNAL ADDS NEW WORKER

Winning by a margin of 50 votes, Bob Wilde was elected student body president of Santa Ana high school in a final contest with Don Kennedy.

The vice presidency went to Merle Morris over Bill Flood. Ruth Frandson was chosen secretary in a race with Virginia Wilson.

Others elected were Erwin Youel, commissioner of athletics; Bill Keeton, commissioner of forensics; Jerry Hawkins, commissioner of publications; William Semnacher and Bob Speed, boys' self government; Mary Henderson and Carolyn Davis, girls' self government.

On the elections committee were Jeanette Klatt, chairman; Elizabeth Borchard, Mary Elizabeth Heany, Jean Mulbar, Mari-jane Belcher, Conley Kemper, Art Salsbury, Robert Browning, Leola Schroeder, Betty Hammond, Dorothy Flaughly, Marjorie Mathews and Zola Weir.

VIOLINIST TO PLAY

In a special recital for the Calvary church at the Ebells clubhouse Wednesday, Alexander Kaminsky, Imperial Russian Jew violinist, will give a full evening of music. A silver offering will be taken.

Best on History

"A rosary of missions did he bring to lay upon the footstool of his King," writes Elizabeth Smith of Chaffey junior college in "El Camino Real," her poem which was judged best on a California historical theme and won a prize from the Orange County Historical society.

For the best free verse, Dorothy Dexter of Humboldt state college won the Rachel Harris Campbell free verse prize with her "Helen Muses in the House of Menelaus." One lovely bit from the poem: "That my eyes, empty at last of desire, in great quiet, should hold wisdom?"

Started in 1927

Started in 1927 by the Intercollegiate Fellowship of Creative Art in Fullerton junior college, "First the Blade" this year received over 1000 poems from 45 colleges and universities of the state. Miss June Holman, student of Miss Frances Egge, designed the pen drawing frontispiece.

Thirty-six institutions are represented in the anthology, which is a fitting addition to the library of anyone interested in youthful yet very vivid and pleasing verse.

Since leaving here, Mr. Short-sleeve has been associated with newspapers in Santa Barbara and Eureka.

Mrs. Short-sleeve will come to Santa Ana within a few weeks and re-establish the family residence here.

COUNTY CHURCH BROTHERHOOD TO MEET ON MAY 21

Reservations are being made this week with A. M. Robinson at 5141-W for the second annual meeting of the Orange county church brotherhood which will be held in the First Methodist church of Garden Grove Tuesday evening, May 21.

Officers will be elected and plans will be made for the coming year. Dr. Angus McLeod, pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian church of Long Beach, will make the principal address.

BUILDING, LOAN COMPANY WILL MOVE SOON

The Santa Ana Building and Loan association, which for ten years has been located at the southwest corner of Fifth and Sycamore streets, will move soon to a new location at the northeast corner of Sixth and Main streets. Ellis C. Diehl, secretary-manager of the organization, outlined plans for the move late yesterday.

The event is regarded as of more than usual significance for the reason that the change in location will bring all the building and loan organizations of Santa Ana to Main street. All the city's title companies are now on this thoroughfare, while two of its banks are at Fourth and Main streets and two are on Fourth street, only a block away.

In Winbigler Building
The Santa Ana Building and Loan will occupy quarters in the Winbigler building recently occupied by Ray Goodell, real estate broker. The organization has taken a ten-year lease on this location.

Mr. Diehl announced that remodeling of the interior and certain other changes costing from $1500 to $2000 will be made and that as soon as this work is done the business will move to its new home.

"We consider our change a forward step in enabling us to serve the community," Mr. Diehl said. He expressed optimism in regard to the future and called attention to the fact that a definite improvement has been noted in rentals and the real estate market.

The Santa Ana Building and Loan, now a million-dollar organization, was organized in 1923. It began operations on Third street, moving to its present location ten years ago.

During the past year it has made loans amounting to approximately $150,000, Mr. Diehl said.

The corporation has $900,000 outstanding in loans on Santa Ana and Orange county homes, made on an 11-year basis. The formal turnover of loans this would be approximately $80,000 per year. The figure of $150,000 for the past year, Mr. Diehl indicated, is evidence of a continuing growth and development.

WHY THE WAR TALK? 'German Menace' France's Cue As War Fears Pervade Nation

Third in a series of five daily articles.

By JOHN EVANS
PARIS, Saturday, May 18. (P)—The possibility of war darkens the Frenchman's horizon.

Peace, everywhere in Europe, is proclaimed the universal ideal but all ask each other, "Will there be war?"

French leaders—and the common man when he can be heard—say they sincerely wish peace. Their fear of war is based on many things, all centering eventually in one man, Hitler.

"The German menace," once whispered, is discussed openly in a way that old diplomats say inevitably would have led to war a generation ago.

Old Alliance Revived

France has lengthened military service and Germany has restored conscription, to add to her already formidable reichswehr. Military alliances, such as many blamed for bringing on the last war, again are in the making.

France and England have pledged each other to "the principle" of an air accord, the modern version of the old "entente cordiale," with Russia joining through a separate pact with France.

Hitler, defying the old allies, has made another scrap of paper of the vital part of the treaty of Versailles. When France and England, February 3, declared, as France and Italy had earlier, that they would refuse to countenance one-sided abrogation of treaty provisions, Hitler promptly replied with reestablishment of conscription, the "creation" of an air fleet, and announcement that the arms part of the treaty is dead.

Arms Race in Full Swing
The arms race is on between Germany and France, physically, morally and politically.

Predictions of whether or when there will be war are considered mere guesses by many French statesmen, although officials quite frankly say privately that war ap-

MAYOR ISSUES 'POPPY DAY' STATEMENT

Saturday, May 25 was proclaimed Poppy day in Santa Ana in a proclamation issued today by Mayor Fred C. Rowland. The proclamation urged all citizens to honor the world war dead by wearing the American Legion and auxiliary memorial poppy on that day, and to aid the war's living victims by contributing to the Legion and auxiliary welfare funds. The proclamation follows:

"The city of Santa Ana during the great crisis of the world war sent forth its sons in response to the nation's call. They served gallantly in the nation's defense, and of their numbers some were called upon to lay down their lives in that service. The memory of their patriotic sacrifice should always be held dear by the citizens of Santa Ana.

"Others of these brave young men were called upon to sacrifice, not life, but the health and strength which makes life worth while. Their families and the families of the dead also were required to make heavy sacrifices. These disabled and dependents are still paying the human price of our nation's world war victory.

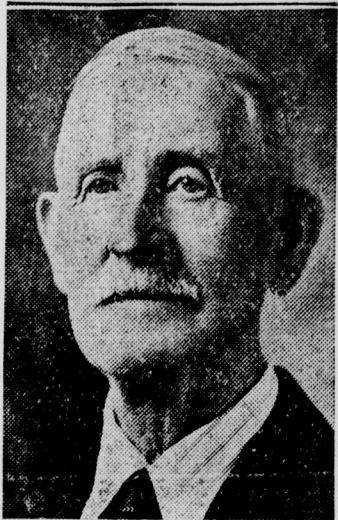

"From the battle front in France our returning soldiers brought the poppy as the symbol of sacrifice and the memorial flower of the dead. Each year on the Saturday before Memorial day the men of the American Legion and the women of the American Legion auxiliary ask us to wear this flower in tribute to the nation's fallen defenders and to give in exchange for the flower a contribution to aid the war's living victims.

"Therefore, I, Fred C. Rowland, mayor of Santa Ana, urge all citizens to honor the dead and aid the living by wearing the American Legion and American Legion auxiliary memorial poppy on Saturday, May 25.

"And to that end, I do hereby proclaim Saturday, May 25 Poppy day in the city of Santa Ana.

"FRED C. ROWLAND."

ROADS, BRIDGES WASHED OUT IN STORM

Streams Swollen To Overflowing By Heavy Rains

ALTUS, Okla., Saturday, May 18. (P)—Eight persons were believed drowned today as rivers and creeks in this vicinity were suddenly flooded by drenching rains.

One body, that of Mrs. Claude Gowens, 70, was recovered. Among the missing were Carl McAlpine, 40, and his ten year old daughter, Joy, and five members of the Negro family of Edmond Reid, all living on Turkey creek near Harmony.

At first it was reported Reid's entire family of nine had been drowned, but four of them turned up later with terrifying tales of the disaster.

Bridges on railways and highways were swept away in the sudden rise of the rivers and creeks. About a dozen homes were swept away and damage to crops and livestock was extensive.

The deaths occurred in the basin of Turkey creek, southeast of Olustee, which rose to its highest stage since 1915. Five persons were reported marooned in trees, and attempts were being made to reach them in boats.

The Negroes lived on the farm of D. H. Crowe, south of Olustee. Salt Fork river, four miles west of here, changed its channel, returning to one to the east abandoned long ago, and took in its course several small homes, but all of the occupants made their way to safety.

All traffic to the west was cut off. The Santa Fe railway bridge south of Altus was washed out, and so was the M. K. & T. bridge on Elm Form river north of Altus. Tracks was washed out west of Duke, and Frisco tracks were out west of Altus.

New 'Bonus March' On Washington Is Proposed By Leader

LOS ANGELES, Saturday, May 18. (P)—Royal W. Robertson, disabled veteran and leader of the California delegation of "bonus marchers" to Washington in 1932, today called on ex-soldiers to mobilize in another trek to the nation's capital.

Robertson declared the veterans would leave for Washington on freight trains as soon as President Roosevelt vetoes the Patman bonus bill. The "army," he said, would remain there "until the bonus is paid."

"We won't disband this time," the ex-leader declared.

"This time," he went on, "there will be no autos, no women and no children. Every veteran who took part in the 1932 trek, in which I reached Washington with 1199 California marchers, has been notified to try again. The response assures me 5000 veterans will join."

FILES SUIT FOR $10,456.80 OVER AUTO CRASH

Damages totalling $10,456.80 for injuries alleged to have been received January 21 in an automobile accident in Anaheim, are demanded from H. L. Goodyear and others in a suit filed today by W. E. Alexander. In his complaint Alexander alleges that Goodyear was careless in the operation of his automobile.

Alexander received injuries which he asserts probably will be permanent, when the automobile driven by Goodyear collided with his car at the intersection of Broadway and Clementine streets in Anaheim. He demands $10,000 actual and $456.80 special damages to cover doctors' fees, bills for medical care and treatment, damages to his automobile and loss of the use of his car for 30 days.

Program Is Japanese

In accordance with this year's program policy of having one country as the motif for decorations and entertainment, table appointments and program took a Japanese note. Great bowls of giant nasturtiums centered the six tables at which guests were seated, and oriental incense burners were decked with the blossoms. Each place was marked by one of the flowers. Chow mein, fortune rice cakes, and Chinese tea were served at the luncheon.

Wearing authentic oriental dress, Mrs. Joe C. Burke, Mrs. H. T. Trueblood, Mrs. C. F. Mitchell, and Miss Martha Whitson, were hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Theodore Winkler, Mrs. J. W. McCormac, Mrs. M. B. Lacy, and Mrs. F. D. Drake, program committee.

Featuring the afternoon program, Miss Marguerite Pimental, accompanied by Miss Margaret Davis, sang "Japanese Love Song" and "Maiden." Miss Lulu Minter showed motion pictures taken on her recent trip through Japan, China, and Hawaii.

Devotionals were led by Mrs. G. R. Safley, and Mrs. H. T. Jones played for the singing. Mrs. Wilson, retiring president, was presented a blooming potted plant. A corsage complimented Mrs. Bohlander at the luncheon. Miss Minter and Mrs. F. J. Jacoby, worthy matron of Hermosa, were guests of the day.

TO HEAD JUNIORS

Miss Nan Mead (above), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Mead, 2119 North Main street, is incoming president of the Santa Ana Junior Ebell.

Nan Mead To Be Next Leader

Miss Nan Mead, attractive young Santa Ana, soon will succeed Mrs. Don Park in the presidency of Santa Ana Junior Ebell. Installation of officers is scheduled for sometime in June.

Her election as president comes to Miss Mead as a natural result of her willing and enthusiastic service in welfare work of the Juniors, as second vice president this year. Last year she was travel section chairman and editor of the News Letter, Junior publication.

Aside from her clubwork, Miss Mead is an inveterate golfer.

As to education, the Juniors' new leader was educated through her freshman year of college in the Immaculate Heart convent in Hollywood.

She completed her college course at the University of California at Los Angeles, and since has been at home with her parents.

Miss Mead left several weeks ago on a trip to Washington, D. C., and now is visiting Mrs. Frank Watson (Lois Clements), a recent bride and a former Orange girl. She intends to return to Santa Ana before July 1.

Something Sweet

I hope I'm not giving away a secret! One of the A. A. U. W. members who prepared some of that delicious chewy dessert served at the university women's student loan benefit the other afternoon gave me the recipe for it, and I list it: To make a roll 12 inches long and three inches thick, sliced to taste, use 2 cups chopped dates, 28 finely-cut marshmallows, 1 cup chopped nuts, and 1/4 pint (or 1/2 cup) cream. Mix thoroughly, roll in graham cracker crumbs, and the marshmallows will hold the ingredients together.

Bridge 'Whizzes'

Three little slams bid and made in contract bridge caused a mild flurry at a recent party given in Sigma Tau Psi sorority house at Balboa Island. . . . Many and interesting are the social activities centering around the sorority's attractive house this month.

Paging Mrs. Jones

If your name is Smith or Jones and you wish it were McGillicuddy so your mail wouldn't get mixed up, I can tell you a story to cheer you up!

Mrs. William H. (Katherine) Maag and Mrs. Catherine Maag both live on Minter street. They are both active in St. Joseph's Catholic church.

Mrs. William H. Maag's mother-in-law is named Mrs. J. A. (Catherine) Maag. She lives on Fairhaven road in Orange.

Recently Mrs. William H. Maag received a letter addressed to Mrs. Catherine Maag, Santa Ana. It concerned an estate of a Peterson in South Dakota. Since Mrs. Maag of Orange has Peterson relatives in the Dakotas, Mrs. Maag concluded it was for her. It wasn't. It was for Mrs. Catherine Maag of Minter street.

Since both the Maag families of Minter street are fond of their homes, it seems probable that the complications will continue.

TEAPOT TATTLE

By ELLEN SNEBLEY

How many of you have ever read "The Houseboat on the Styx" by John Kendrick Bangs?

Or its sequel, "The Pursuit of the Houseboat?" I can't promise that your sense of humor runs parallel to mine, but if you relish the thought of Charon gloomily plying his paddle on the muddy Styxian waters, if you'd like to listen in while Shakespeare chats with Noah—in short, if you want to dig out an old book and read it with many a chuckle, try the first and then the second book I name above.

Why the Houseboat

Here I'll explain the "why" of the houseboat outburst. It's that new name, "Dog-House on the Styx," which Southland fiction writers have bestowed on the Balboa Island cottage of Harry Felling, Fullerton writer. . . .

Some twosome members of the American Fiction guild spent an inspiring weekend at the Dog-House, comparing notes. Their host, Mr. Felling, gave them previews of the novel on which he is now busily at work.

Writers 'Just People'

Lots of clever fictionists were there. . . . Isabelle Way, Pictorial author, brought her baby along, proving that writers are "regular folks."

Allan V. Elston, prolific Santa Ana story writer and seller, was at the conclave, and so was his pipe, Frank G. Jones of Santa Ana, who was so busy at home helping others on the road to success that he couldn't be present. . . .

One of The Journal's own staff members, Roch Bradshaw, lays claim to a grand novel. Who knows how many others among us are concealing potential G. A. N.'s?

Mrs. Ray G. Burlingame of Balboa, a very splendid person and the writer of a just-finished novel, was busy hosting and welcoming guests to the beachland.

Do You Write?

As far as all this goes, don't you have a secret urge to write a book? Or a story, a poem or an essay? I think every third person, at least, has literary dreams somewhere in his makeup. If you asked everyone you met along the street how his novel was coming along, you'd probably have to spend your summer vacation listening to climaxes, sequences, pet plots and character complications!

She Likes Beads

Mrs. Earl Morrow has a fascinating hobby, that of collecting odd jewelry. Mostly silver, and mostly Indian. But wherever the Morrrows travel, she finds some trinket, the sight of which on later occasions vividly recalls the particular trip on which it was acquired. Smooth, dull silver beads, silver bracelets. . . . and many more pieces are in her collection.

Mrs. Susan Rutherford brought Mrs. Morrow a bangle from Port Spain, and other friends have remembered her in their jaunts far afield. . . .

About Gardens

"A garden brings the whole world to your door," was one of Mrs. Jack Valley's quotations at the meeting of Santa Ana Valley Ebell this week—and isn't it so?

Tulips from Holland, spices from the orient, one could go on and on tracing back the plants in the average garden. . . . Did you enjoy the trek about Broadway park's gardens with Santa Ana Y. W. C. A. as your hostess? If you did, book and read it with many a chuckle, try the first and then the second book I name above.

Shops for Section

Much credit goes to Mrs. J. E. Paul, retiring leader of Santa Ana Valley Ebell garden section, for her innovation in the section this year—shopping in various nurseries and bringing to each meeting some news of new plants, prices or advice from nurserymen. . . . the section has doubled its membership in the past year, too.

Poppies are blooming on North Park boulevard again—luscious, lovely red Shirley's and vivid California ones. The central strip from Broadway to Flower is a bright band of color, these days. . . . No, this is not exclusively a garden column, but I think we all enjoy flowers—and I'm going to discuss them further, soon!

June approaches with wedding bells for Clara Kate Owens, Florine Pollock, Billie Brucke and other pretty young Santa Anans. . . . only this week a chance chat with an English consulting engineer brought out the fact that he prefers his daughter, a college graduate, to be married rather than toward a career. . . . that woman's place is in the home. . . . which starts a many-sided trend of thought, and with which I close our tattle for today.

Clarence Gustlin, Santa Ana

concert pianist, and Miss Georgia Belle Walton, violinist, have received an invitation from the music committee of the San Diego exposition to present one of the Sunday afternoon musical programs at the fair.

The invitation was extended the Santa Anans through the interest of Charles Wakefield Cadman, noted composer, whose sonata for piano and violin they played so tensely last season, and for their interpretation of which Mr. Cadman complimented them highly.

According to Mr. Gustlin, the program to be presented will be all-Cadman.

Pegasus Club Has Program Meeting In Bond Home

A very enjoyable afternoon was shared by members of the Pegasus club when Mrs. Rose Havelly entertained them Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Bond, 2019 Victoria drive.

The meeting, with the possible exception of informal summer picnics, closed the Pegasus program for the year. Election of officers resulted in the re-election of Mrs. Charles Brisco, president, and Mrs. Emily Munro, vice president. Mrs. Walter Foote was elected secretary.

The program subject, recitations for children, had been assigned by Holly Lash Visel.

Mrs. Frank was given some 18 quatrains and short poems cleverly written for project work among Mexican children. She also read an essay on "The Child and Music."

A humorous short story was read by its author, Mrs. Frank Lansdown. "My Playmate," poem telling of a dream childhood companion, was given by Mrs. Earl Morrow.

Mrs. Charles Brisco sang Robert Louis Stevenson's "I Have a Little Shadow," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Malcolm Macurda.

Mrs. Walter Foote gave her poem on a little boy's difference of opinion with his mother as to vitamins in meals. "Nursery Rhymes" by Mrs. Visel was an original version of children's rhymes.

Mrs. George Bond, who only recently returned from Oregon, gave three previously-written poems, "Enchanted Shores," "The Coconut Palm" and "Havana Receding."

Mrs. C. F. Jackson was another club member present. Mrs. Bond assisted her mother in serving refreshments.

Place Changed For Party Of Club

The place for the ways and means and philanthropy section of Santa Ana Woman's club luncheon and bridge party today was announced changed from the Balboa Island home of Mrs. J. D. Watkins to the home of Mrs. L. A. Turner at 2028 Greenleaf.

The party will be a garden affair, opening with a 12:30 p. m. luncheon. A sale of articles is also planned.

Mrs. Waycott, 4129, is taking party reservations.

The Woman's club will meet Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the Veterans hall. A meeting of the study section at 1 p. m. will precede the general club meeting. A reception will be given for new members, following the meeting. Mrs. J. H. Tompkins is arranging a musical program.

Friendship Is Paramount, Club Told

"The friendship of nations is the most vital thing we have to face," Mrs. John Tessmann of Santa Ana junior college faculty told members of the Musical Arts club in a talk on conditions in Germany, given at the club's luncheon meeting yesterday in the studios of Holly Lash Visel on North Main street.

Mrs. Tessmann's familiarity with the country of Germany and her many friendships among its citizens give her an excellent background for her discussions on Germany today.

"Hitler is the end of a long, long difficult road which the Germans have traveled since 1918," Mrs. Tessmann began. "Hitler is not the beginning of anything."

She listed as the first catastrophe in Germany's post-war experience the allies' aggression into her territories, paralyzing her industrial and agricultural resources. Wilson's famous 14 points were the next named, for the speaker said they brought about revolution in Germany.

"The 14 points were so cruel, so devastating for Germany that it was literally impossible for peace to be kept." The speaker quoted a recent speaker in Santa Ana as saying, "We fought a war to end wars, and then we signed a treaty to end peace."

"No nation could have borne the debt Germany had. The war guilt clause was another cruel blow to her. The youth of Germany feels the clause is unjustly imposed."

Sending of troops into the Ruhr valley, inflation toward which Germany was pushed relentlessly, and finally the United States' refusal longer to loan money to her, were listed as the remaining catastrophes. Mrs. Tessmann mentioned the enormous number of Germans Hitler has put to work.

"Hitler," she said, "stands between a great people with tremendous pride, and their union with Russia."

Clarence Gustlin introduced the speaker, who was prolongedly applauded.

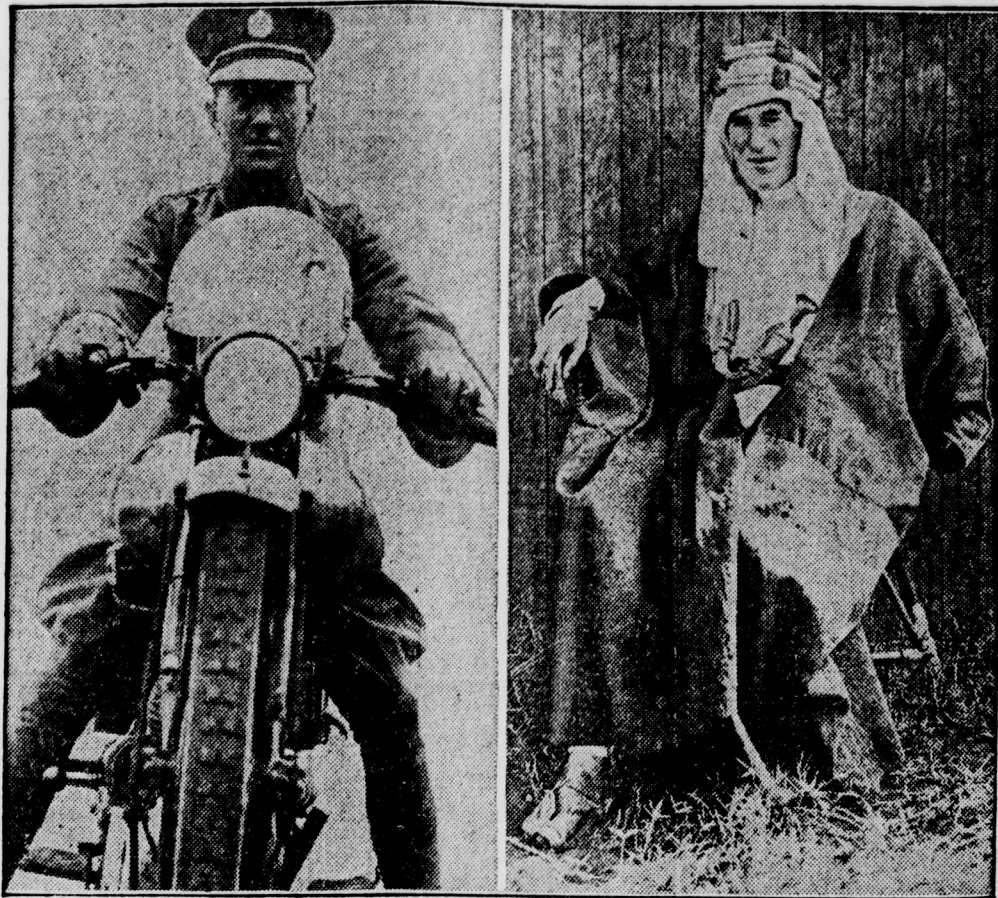

An insight into the unhappy life of the poet Heine was brought out by Mrs. Visel, who sang "I Chide Thee Not" and "Thou Art So Like a Flower" in the original German words. Miss Ruth Armstrong accompanied the singer, whose rich contralto voice lent itself beautifully to Heine's fine poetic thoughts.

VOL. 1, NO. 16 Saturday, May 18, 1935

To Harry L. Hanson:

They tell me you spent your early boyhood playing on the banks of the Mississippi. Is that where you got your first banking experience?

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Georgia Voters:

As the returns from your neck-and-neck prohibition repeal election come in, I can almost hear John Barleycorn counting 'em, "He loves me, he loves me not, he . . ."

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Senator William G. McAdoo:

Have you been up late nights lately? I saw a picture of you in The Journal which seemed to show you dozing during a session of the senate banking committee. Or are you that way most of the time, Senator?

COL. V. ORANGE.

To the "Lemon Juice" Editor:

All the junior college boys are talking about this clever Li'l Gee Gee you refer to in your column. What're the chances of meeting the young lady? I've been around the office two or three weeks and haven't seen one trace of her.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Hunter Leach:

Is it a fair request to ask for your recipe for broiling steaks? I am certain you know how because I ate one of them last night and it was served on a paper plate with a dull knife, than which there could be no better proof.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Some Little Japanese Children:

That was a very colorful and sprightly entertainment you provided Thursday night at the banquet given for your consul, Tomokazu Hori, of Los Angeles. Your costumes were beautiful in the extreme and your interpretation of native dances most pleasing.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Prospective Newlyweds:

Here's good, or bad, news (as you'll probably determine each for yourself eventually) ticking in from Sacramento. The legislature is thinking of making marriage licenses much easier to obtain. Perhaps you do not get what I mean, but again perhaps you will—eventually.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Orange County Boys and Girls:

What a lot of fun there is in store for you—coloring the picture of Shirley Temple in The Journal. It always is interesting to imagine just what your heroines look like. And this affords an opportunity for you to picture Shirley as you think she is—or ought to be.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Santa Ana Swappers:

I notice The Journal is providing an opportunity for you to trade, through the medium of The Journal, articles which you have little need for, for something useful. I think that is a grand idea and when there is no charge for the service, it ought to find favor with a lot of us. Personally, I have an alarm clock which works too well and I am willing to trade for what have you.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Vern Carpenter:

You have my deep sympathy for the affliction you are troubled with and my warm admiration for the soldierly spirit you have manifested in fighting on. I do hope the big heart of Santa Ana will respond to The Journal's effort to provide you with a wheelchair. There are so many needs these days. Sometimes we find it hard indeed to contribute to all of them, but your's is one that must be taken care of.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Local Calavo Growers:

It is just a personal peculiarity of my own that I don't like your word Calavo. I like California and I like avocados. I eat my share of the latter, too. But I wish you hadn't telescoped two musical words to form this trade term. Nevertheless, it's good news that you're going to share in another $30,000 pool disbursement on your April crop of, if you please, California avocados—long may they adorn our salads!

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Loraine French:

Your suggestion that the Bowers Memorial museum be opened in time to attract tourists who will visit Orange county during the California International Exposition at San Diego, seems most timely. While there have been extenuating circumstances in the past which prevented the museum from being properly equipped to serve the use it was intended for, there seems to be no valid reason why there should be further delay.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Ray Adkinson, County School Superintendent:

You have a difficult task in your effort to restore harmony in the Oceanview school district. It is unfortunate that dissension of such a serious character should arise at any time and especially now that the pupils are nearing their graduation days. Let me express the hope that all will be ironed out very soon. It would be tragedy to send pupils out into the world with this bitter memory of their last school days.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To The Journal:

I notice you're printing letters from subscribers telling how good (in spots) and how sadly deficient in others they think you are. I'd like to submit one about The Journal. As to this column, of course, modesty forbids me to comment, though I must admit my wife says it's wonderfully entertaining. As to news, you don't begin to equal the New York Times. And as for human interest and fancy writing, why, the Pumpkin Hollow Bugle when I edited it was 'way, 'way ahead. You're young, though. Mebbe you'll improve. Here's hoping! Your sincere well wisher,

COL. V. ORANGE.

A group of the Ohio home folk had a dinner the other night and drafted resolutions asking my wife and me to return for a visit. As I haven't been home for 27 years, it was thoughtful and perhaps significant to see the names of the sheriff and police chief on the scroll.

A refurbished ancestral home with expansive front porch and yard centering a 100-year maple are awaiting. Plus a neighborly warmth a city never acquires. After five years in a New York apartment house I exchange bit-ten-off little bows with three other tenants. Three only!

I am in reverential awe of the old Gallic town, whose origin has been splendidly romanticized in W. G. Sibley's "French Five Hundred." It is emblematic of all the wholesome simplicities. Some day, likely, I will pick up enough courage to go back, but somehow I'd like to remember as I last saw it.

I have told mannerly fibs as to why I never returned. The truth is too many of my illusions have cracked wide open. This one I want to hug tight and never let go. It's the only haven of which I have no memory of pettiness, deceit or a solitary vestige of man's inhumanity to man.

There are no rich in Gallipolis, as we know in larger cities. But there are no slums, no record of a man, woman or child going hungry. I should say 80 per cent of residents own their homes and automobiles. It's three sturdy banks have gone through the depression without a buckle. Not many businesses have changed hands. Like the gentle cluck and sag of the Ohio that laps its up-sweep of levee, it just keeps rolling along. So far as I know, it never indulges one of those worldly flourishes that often stampede a more peaceful commune and makes it ridiculously ostentatious. It has the serene sense of permanence of its surrounding hills.

I always resent the implication that small towns are viciously cruel with gossip. I have breast the billows of Broadway's swollen and professional libel too long and I have heard more reputations torn to tatters in a single evening at Dinty Moore's, Lindy's, etc., than in all my time in a small town. More often the small town is guileless in shielding its unworthy. The natural heat of its heart is kindly, protecting, forgiving.

So Gallipolis is symbolic to me of that pocket of calm the scientist tells us is the tornado's vortex. With the world in furious churn, it has remained as placid as the exquisite stillness of its summer evenings. At least that's the picture my retina retains. To go back and find that was not so would be a wrench. The end of the last illusion!

Such a gesture they have indulged toward me in inviting me back, however, proves the friendly currents are still running strong. Of course, I could not think of returning in the false role of the conqueror, with flags waving and bands playing. Although I confess in those sleepless stretches that come now and again the idea is tempting. I have stepped from several imaginary trains—twice even a great big airplane—to clasp the hands of Judge Cherrington, Frank Vance, Dr. Holzer, Harry Maddy, Hollis Johnston, A. K. Merriman and others of an equally imaginary reception committee. And rolled away sitting high and unbalanced on the back seat of the automobile blowing kisses and smiling coyly through showers of confetti. You know, like the returning air heroes in the news reels!

But one look at me as a hero would prostrate the populace with laughter. I'd prefer to slip into town quietly some night when everybody but perhaps the night-watch was deep in sleep and next morning take up life where I left off as though I'd never been away. I'd enjoy helping Harold Weatherholt and Earl Mauck get out the day's edition of The Tribune. Maybe submit a nostalgic editorial for things I miss. Make a round trip on the ferry-boat Champion. Jog up the levee on the tail of Bob Mitchell's dray. Drop over to the Lafayette—a new hotel since I was there named for the great French general who once tarried on the site—for lunch with Jack Halliday and other Court streeters.

The first sundown I'd like to sit at the top of Academy hill listening to the obligato of crickets, watch dusk sift its mantle of grey over the ol' swimmin' hole, hear the lowing of cattle, see night's first scatter of stars and perhaps choke up a little.

By Denys Wortman

"All I hope is that by the time they grow up all the social and political and economic problems will be solved."

Talks to Parents

By Brooke Peters Church

Too often a baby, which should make for family love and union, turns out instead to be a cause of division between parents. And generally the fault lies with the mother. There is such a thing as over-protectiveness even in the care of a baby.

It is not to be wondered at that a young mother, new to the responsibility of caring for babies, and imbued with the importance of the rules and regulations laid down by doctors, nurses and books, should be dismayed by the magnitude of her task. The baby seems the first thing in her life. House and husband can take care of themselves, but the helpless little creature in her charge must have the best she can give.

So instead of enlarging the scope of her activities to include the baby, she often tends to substitute the baby and consequently to narrow down her life and attention to a horizon bounded by its needs.

Her husband's work ceases to interest her save as it represents security for her child. She cannot go on junkets and be a comrade to her husband because the baby must not be left for a moment. The home which at first was dainty and cozy becomes a drying rack for oddments of the infant wardrobe.

The husband may accept this situation at first. But most men rebel sooner or later, and rightly. They take to staying out late, going to the club, anything to have a few hours of freedom from responsibility.

No child requires the sacrifice of everything that adds color and gaiety to life, and in the end such a sacrifice may disrupt the home and so injure the child itself.

Feeling Well Today?

By Dr. Iago Galdston

PROTECTION AGAINST INFANTILE PARALYSIS: II

which has been modified by contact with the chemical substance known as aluminum hydroxide.

A third method, producing a vaccine which has been experimentally employed on quite a number of human subjects, consists in exposing the virus to the action of formalin, a chemical preservative.

All of the above listed vaccines have proved effective in the development of resistance or immunity in the vaccinated subjects. The reason why different vaccines are being tried is that we are eager to develop one that will be absolutely safe and effective.

It is worthy of note that while much of this experimental work has been done on monkeys, in the last analysis the tests of vaccines prepared for human use have in a number of instances been made by the scientists upon themselves.

To summarize, therefore, the promise of a specific protection against polio is good.

The Merry-Go-Round

in the beet sugar fields is significant for two reasons:

1. The AAA got cold feet at the last minute and backed away from an arbitration arrangement which would have been much more favorable to labor.

2. The set-up is the first official step to meet the rising tide of discontent among farm workers—a tide which is expected to increase rapidly.

AAA officials admit privately that they are fully aware of the system of peonage and child labor existing in many parts of the sugar beet areas. And originally they planned regional boards in each of the four beet sections to hear all grievances.

The boards were to consist of three persons: One representing labor, one the growers, and the third an impartial citizen.

But as confidential reports showed more labor discontent latent in the beet sugar areas than in any other farm region save south New Jersey, the sugar section of the AAA backed away from these boards. They figured that they would be dominated by local pro-labor sentiment.

So instead, the AAA has appointed a single agent. He is expected to cover the entire area from Montana to Michigan and from Idaho to Colorado—obviously an impossible task.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

FRIENDS of hard-working Chairman Francis Biddle of the National Labor Relations board have launched a boom for his nomination as democratic candidate for mayor of Philadelphia in this year's election. A militant liberal and strongly popular with labor, Biddle's friends believe he would stand an excellent chance of carrying the Quaker City . . . The inside story of the long delay in replacing Martin Conboy as U. S.

district attorney of New York city is that there is a bitter dispute between him and Big Jim Farley over the selection of a successor.

Conboy is insisting that he be allowed to name the new man. This Farley will not let him do. So Conboy is holding on to the office. . . . Kingfish Huey P. Young is going around that their Oregon adherents are planning a recall action against Democratic Governor Charles H. Martin. One member of the Oregon legislature has already been recalled at the instigation of the Townsendites in his district because of his hostility to their plan.

Howdy, folks! Business experts declare that prosperity has returned. To a lot of us the return of prosperity doesn't mean anything except the privilege of paying about 10 per cent more.

A university scientist has discovered a new species of mosquito. We understand, however, that it discovered him first.

The various government controllers now have the consumer pretty well controlled.

The last time we took Li'l Gee Gee to a ball game, it was very embarrassing. She bought a bag of peanuts and started to throw them at the reporters in the press box cage.

While millions may rave at the Kingfish (Or is he just a bayou crappie?) He fulfilleth the columnist's wish And maketh, too, the jokester happy.

"Bill must be planning to buy a new car."

"Why?"

"I see he's letting his wife drive."

HARD FEELING

By Mary Graham Bonner

At first everyone was overjoyed at the honor being shown to Puddle Muddle to think that one of their number should be made a big chief. But then there began to be a word here, another there, and the Puddle Muddlers were grumbling and feeling slighted and unhappy.

"I don't know why Christopher was made a big chief," said Mr. Quacko Duck. "After all I'm the fire chief here."

"I should have been made a big chief," crowed Top Notch. "I am a handsome rooster. They told me so. And I keep the general store. I am an important citizen."

"I'm sweet and gentle. I suppose that was why they didn't notice me so much," said Sweet Face, the lamb. "But it seems strange to me that Willy Nilly was made a big chief."

"If any one deserves it he does of course," said Rip, the dog.

The bears were off with the Indians and Willy Nilly was learning to ride a pony.

"Well, I think it's an insult," said Top Notch.

"I do, too," quacked Mr. Quacko Duck.

Mrs. Quacko was thinking she would leave this out when she went to see Mrs. Quacker . . . The Indians were coming around now, cheering Willy Nilly as he rode the pony, and the bears were growing with the other Puddle Muddlers, and he had an idea what it was. Christopher, on the branch of a tree, was looking so proud and pleased. But what was Willy Nilly to do about it?

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

A. J. McFadden, home from an attendance of the United States Chamber of Commerce meeting in Washington, D. C., brings the welcome information to former Iowans that that state looks beautiful, and ties in another compliment for Texans. The parched places of a year ago have through the arrival of timely rains been restored to natural verdure. Mr. McFadden reports a continuity of agricultural freshness reaching from the nation's capital to the Pacific coast, with a rising tide of conviction that peace and plenty is to be our portion for the present season. With that kind of information I am in favor of letting A. J. make another trip.

Picked up a copy of a San Francisco paper. It contained an advertisement for the Emporium, which recalled that before the earthquake I bought a pair of dance slippers in the Emporium and I still have them. I never wore 'em, if that's the answer why I still have 'em. The human race buys a lot of things it does not need, but there's a great thrill in buying. Keep it going.

The administration's leading NRA high voltage, Donald Richberg, is reported to have a consuming ambition to get back into the law business. It is reported that sometime next June he will divorce himself from administration obligation and affiliation to swing into private practice. The NRA has been the most cussed and discussed of the alphabetical agencies. Darrow started the conflagration, General Johnson piled on some more inflammable material, and now the chief generalissimo sends for the fire department. Thus goes three of the fugacious leaders of a movement that has caused many a business man more than one sleepless night.

There is more than unusual weather in California. Yesterday the Fourth Street Curiosity club devoted part of its time to giving a horse the once over. The owner picked a proud location to display the old gray mare, which is not what she used to be, and parked in front of the First National bank. The identity and ownership afforded a foreman's attention. When some one suggested the horse came from Carlsbad and belonged to Judge Williams a motion to adjourn broke up the meetin'.

Orange growing as a side line is affording a diversion for Clyde Horton. Having his mind centered along another line for so many years, he is now watching with impatient anticipation the leap an orange tree is expected to take between the ages of one to four. Mr. Horton recently acquired a 20-acre tract on McClay street. Everything is going "jake," except some rose betel wants to test its speed with a bunch of new trees that has been set out. It is understood the owner of the grove has concluded that it's another case of a race carrying the traditional throne.

I am not creating or distributing the weather for California. Please do not file your complaints with me. Send 'em to Mark Twain, if you know his address. And the cynic who phrased that slogan about "southern California, where the sunshine tries to spend the winter," you can have him also.

I have no objection to telephone calls, but when they come from Jay Demers they have a disquieting effect. Jay said the sheriff was looking for me. Well, being of an accommodating disposition I volunteered to save the taxpayers' gasoline money so I informed Jay that it would not be inconvenient for me to walk over and see the sheriff. When I got there he didn't want to see me. Now I'm looking for Demers.

The meteorological phenomenon that is sweeping the plains states is traceable to violations of mankind who ploughed under virgin sod, burned sagebrush and destroyed foliage, thereby removing natural barriers which were a deterrent to swirling winds. The farmer wanted to grow more wheat, so he could sell more wheat at $2 per bushel, and now he's harvesting a whirlwind of dust, until the fertile area has disappeared to the extent of millions of acres and the agrarian is forced to load the family into the old "jokely" and head California-ward, which further increases the burden on sunbaked farmers. Man is a smart egg, but with all of his ingenuity he is still amenable to the elements.
